material life is made of Yet identity cannot itself adopt the form of a sequence As the authors in this volume show the genome must be de sequenced by human language to render it interpretable and meaningful in a social context The book unpacks this type of sequence speech in engaging detail adopting a personal social cultural and bio political approach to examine the transformation of human identity and reflexivity in the era of genetic citizenship Making Sense of Nature Noel

Castree,2013-08-15 We listen to a cacophony of voices instructing us how to think and feel about nature including our own bodies The news media wildlife documentaries science magazines and environmental NGOs are among those clamouring for our attention But are we empowered by all this knowledge or is our dependence on various communities allowing our thoughts sentiments and activities to be unduly governed by others Making Sense of Nature shows that what we call nature is made sense of for us in ways that make it central to social order social change and social dissent By utilising insights and extended examples from anthropology cultural studies human geography philosophy politics sociology science studies this interdisciplinary text asks whether we can better make sense of nature for ourselves and thus participate more meaningfully in momentous decisions about the future of life human and non human on the planet This book shows how nature can be made sense of without presuming its naturalness The challenge is not so much to rid ourselves of the idea of nature and its collateral concepts such as genes but instead we need to be more alert to how why and with what effects ideas about nature get fashioned and deployed in specific situations Among other things the book deals with science and scientists the mass media and journalists ecotourism literature and cinema environmentalists advertising and big business This innovative text contains numerous case studies and examples from daily life to put theory and subject matter into context as well as study tasks a glossary and suggested further reading The case studies cover a range of topics range from forestry in Canada and Guinea to bestiality in Washington State to how human genetics is reported in Western newspapers to participatory science experiments in the UK Making Sense of Nature will empower readers from a wide range of fields across the social sciences humanities and physical sciences Cinema of/for the Anthropocene Katarzyna Paszkiewicz,Andrea Ruthven,2025-01-31

Cinema of for the Anthropocene sheds new light on the question of how films can allow us to resituate ourselves within what is known today as the Anthropocene The authors address this question through a variety of disciplines and theoretical perspectives from film and cultural studies new materialisms critical posthumanism and animal studies critical race theory and Indigenous media studies to gender and sexuality studies with a primary focus on films produced in the United States and Canada The volume moves beyond the mere acknowledgment of the devastating damage inflicted during the Anthropocene to think about new ways of inhabiting the world through concepts such as affect response ability and more than human kinship The writers in this collection respond to its invitation by addressing a range of genres and modes thus complicating the apocalyptic discourses which have typically been central to the studies on the Anthropocene in addition to dystopian films the volume discusses animated films Hollywood biopics climate change documentaries experimental film comedy horror sci fi as well as disease thriller and survival film Taken together the chapters offer cross disciplinary readings of the cinema of for the Anthropocene showing ways in which it can help us re orient our thinking to make sense of the current age and address the planetary scale environmental catastrophe This volume will appeal to researchers and students in film studies cultural studies and the burgeoning field of environmental humanities

Beyond Critique Pamela Fraser, Roger Rothman, 2017-04-06 Critique has long been a central concept within art practice and theory Since the emergence of Conceptual Art artists have been expected by critics curators and art school faculty to focus their work on exposing and debunking ideologies of power and domination Recently however the effectiveness of cultural critique has come into question The appearance of concepts such as the speculative the reparative and the constructive suggests an emerging postcritical paradigm Beyond Critique takes stock of the current discourse around this issue With some calling for a renewed criticality and others rejecting the model entirely the book s contributors explore a variety of new and recently reclaimed criteria for contemporary art and its pedagogy Some propose turning toward affect and affirmation others seek to reclaim such allegedly discredited concepts as intimacy tenderness and spirituality With contributions from artists critics curators and historians this book provides new ways of thinking about the historical role of critique while also exploring a wide range of alternative methods and aspirations Beyond Critique will be a crucial tool for students and instructors who are seeking to think and work beyond the critical
