Spaces of Law and Custom Edoardo Frezet, Marc Goetzmann, Luke Mason, 2021-07-14 This collection brings together a carefully curated selection of researchers from law sociology anthropology philosophy history social ontology and international relations in order to examine how law and custom interact within specific material and spatial contexts Normativity develops within these contexts while also shaping them This complex relationship exists within all physical places from traditional agrarian spaces to the modern shifting post industrial workplace The contributions gathered together in this volume explore numerous examples of such spaces from different disciplinary perspectives to interrogate the dynamic relationship between custom and law and the material spaces they inhabit While there are a dynamic series of conclusions regarding this relationship in different material realities a common theme is pursued throughout a proper understanding of law and custom stems from their material locatedness within the power dynamics of particular spaces which in turn are reflexively shaped by that same normativity The book thus generates an account of the locatedness of law and custom and indeed of custom as a source of law In this way it provides a series of linked explorations of normative spaces but more fundamentally it also furnishes a cross disciplinary toolkit of concepts and critical tools for understanding law and custom and their relationship As the diversity of the contributors indicates this book will be of great interest to legal theorists of different traditions also legal historians and anthropologists as well as sociologists historians geographers and developmental economists

Alfred Loisy and the Making of History of Religions Annelies Lannoy, 2020-08-10 This monograph studies the professionalization of History of religions as an academic discipline in late 19th and early 20th century France and Europe Its common thread is the work of the French Modernist priest and later Professor of History of religions at the Coll ge de France Alfred Loisy 1857 1940 who participated in many of the most topical debates among French and international historians of religions Unlike his well studied Modernist theology Loisy's writings on comparative religion and his rich interactions with famous scholars like F Cumont M Mauss or J G Frazer remain largely unknown This monograph is the first to paint a comprehensive picture of his career as a historian of religions before and after his excommunication in 1908 Through a contextual analysis of publications by Loisy and contemporaries and a large corpus of private correspondence it illuminates the scientification of the discipline between 1890 1920 and its deep entanglement with religion politics and society Particular attention is also given to the role of national and transnational scholarly networks and the way they controlled the theoretical and institutional frameworks for studying the history of religions

Tatematsu,2012-12-06 L'adab, toujours recommencé ,2023-08-21 The notion of adab is at the very heart of the Islamicate cultures Born in the crucible of the Arabic and Persian civilisations of the Late Antiquity period nourished by Greek Syriac and Indian influences this polysemic notion could cover a variegated range of meanings ranging from good behaviour good manners etiquette proper knowledge of the rules to belles lettres and finally literature This volume addresses the notion of adab through four perspectives which correspond to the four parts into which it is divided Origins

Transmissions Metamorphosis of the Origins and finally Origins through the lens of modernity Black Literature and Literary Theory Henry Louis Gates, Jr,2016-08-19 The imaginative literature of African and Afro American authors writing in Western languages has long been seen as standing outside the Western literary canon In fact however black literature not only has a complex formal relation to that canon but tends to revise and reflect Western rhetorical strategies even more than it echoes black vernacular literary forms This book first published in 1984 is divided into two sections thus clarifying the nature of black literary theory on the one hand and the features of black literary practice on the other Rather than merely applying contemporary Western theory to black literature these critics instead challenge and redefine the theory in order to make fresh stimulating comments not only on black criticism and literature but also on the general state of criticism today

Birthing Romans Anna Bonnell Freidin,2024-05-21 How Romans coped with the anxieties and risks of childbirth Across the vast expanse of the Roman Empire anxieties about childbirth tied individuals to one another to the highest levels of imperial politics even to the movements of the stars Birthing Romans sheds critical light on the diverse ways pregnancy and childbirth were understood experienced and managed in ancient Rome during the first three centuries of the Common Era In this beautifully written book Anna Bonnell Freidin asks how inhabitants of the Roman Empire especially women and girls understood their bodies and constructed communities of care to mitigate and make sense of the risks of pregnancy and childbirth Drawing on medical texts legal documents poetry amulets funerary art and more she shows how these communities were deeply human yet never just human Freidin demonstrates how patients and caregivers took their place alongside divine and material agencies to guard against the risks inherent to childbearing She vividly illustrates how these efforts and vital networks offer a new window onto Romans anxieties about order hierarchy and the individual s place in the empire and cosmos Unearthing a risky world that is both familiar and not our own Birthing Romans reveals how mistakes misfortunes and interventions in childbearing were seen to have far reaching consequences reverberating across generations and altering the course of people s lives their family histories and even the fate of an empire     Proceedings of the Society for Psychical Research ,1887     The Transformation of Greek Amulets in Roman Imperial Times Christopher A.
