How America Stacks Up Edward Alden, Rebecca Strauss, 2016-02-01 American leadership in the world is built on the foundation of its economic strength Yet the United States faces enormous economic competition abroad and threats to its economy at home In How America Stacks Up Economic Competitiveness and U S Policy Edward Alden Bernard L Schwartz senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations and director of the Renewing America initiative and Rebecca Strauss associate director of Renewing America focus on those areas of economic policy that are the most important for reinforcing America s competitive strengths Covering education transportation trade and investment corporate tax worker retraining regulation debt and deficits and innovation How America Stacks Up shows how in a highly competitive global economy these seemingly domestic issues are all crucial to U S success in the global economy The line between domestic economic policy and foreign economic policy is now almost invisible and getting these policies right matters for more than just U S living standards The United States ability to influence world events rests on a robust competitive economy But without further investment in education infrastructure and innovation Alden and Strauss show the United States runs the risk of endangering its greatest competitive advantage Through insightful analysis and engaging graphics How America Stacks Up outlines the challenges faced by the United States and prescribes solutions that will ensure a healthy competitive U S economy for years to come

UNESCO science report UNESCO,2015-11-09 There are fewer grounds today than in the past to deplore a North South divide in research and innovation This is one of the key findings of the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 A large number of countries are now incorporating science technology and innovation in their national development agenda in order to make their economies less reliant on raw materials and more rooted in knowledge Most research and development R D is taking place in high income countries but innovation of some kind is now occurring across the full spectrum of income levels according to the first survey of manufacturing companies in 65 countries conducted by the UNESCO Institute for Statistics and summarized in this report For many lower income countries sustainable development has become an integral part of their national development plans for the next 10 20 years Among higher income countries a firm commitment to sustainable development is often coupled with the desire to maintain competitiveness in global markets that are increasingly leaning towards green technologies The quest for clean energy and greater energy efficiency now figures among the research priorities of numerous countries Written by more than 50 experts who are each covering the country or region from which they hail the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 provides more country level information than ever before The trends and developments in science technology and innovation policy and governance between 2009 and mid 2015 described here provide essential baseline information on the concerns and priorities of countries that could orient the implementation and drive the assessment of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development in the years to come

Complex Dynamical Systems in Education Matthijs Koopmans,Dimitrios Stamovlasis,2016-02-19 This book capitalizes on the developments in dynamical systems and education by presenting some of the most recent advances in this area in seventeen non overlapping chapters The first half of the book discusses the conceptual framework of complex dynamical systems and its applicability to educational processes The second half presents a set of empirical studies that that illustrate the use of various research methodologies to investigate complex dynamical processes in education and help the reader appreciate what we learn about dynamical processes in education from using these approaches Professional Journal of the United States Army ,2016-07 Military Review ,2016 New Paradigms in Ergonomics Neville A. Stanton,Paul M. Salmon,Guy Walker,2020-04-28 The systems in which we work continue to evolve creating emergent problems and often strengthening intractable issues In order to remain relevant and impactful the discipline of ergonomics needs its paradigms to evolve too The aim of this book is to provide researchers and practitioners with new paradigms in the form of ideas concepts theories methods practices and values The chapters take the reader on a journey through underlying theories new ways to apply those theories and emerging domains in which ergonomics is expected to play a greater role Readers of this book will be inspired by these new paradigms in ergonomics and seek to push the boundaries even further The lifeblood of the science depends on continual evolvement and developments to take on the challenges we face in complex sociotechnical systems design and evaluation Perhaps the most significant take home message from this book is the demonstration of how theory maps onto practice As such the only remaining paradigm shift is for these ideas concepts methods and practices to be taken up more widely and the discipline advanced until the next paradigm shift occurs The chapters were originally published as a special issue in the journal Ergonomics Social Entrepreneurship in the Middle East Dima Jamali,Alessandro Lanteri,2016-04-29 This two volume book unveils trends strengths weaknesses and overall dynamics and implications of social entrepreneurship in the Middle East region whilst identifying both opportunities and threats facing social entrepreneurship and supplements through a wealth of insights and examples inspired from practice and current applications
