Serros, 2011-10-18 Welcome to the life of a Chicana role model She's recited poetry by the outhouses at Lollapalooza cleaned up after the Flygirls on the TV studio set of In Living Color seduced a love struck fan with a plagiarized poem learned Spanish with a clique of catty co-eds in Mexico traveled to inner city schools to introduce reluctant readers to the wonder of words This is the world that award winning poet and NPR commentator Michele Serros explores in this vibrant witty and touching collection of fiction Hailed as A Woman to Watch in the New Century Newsweek and A young sassy writer whose brilliant weapon is her humor Sandra Cisneros In this ruthlessly honest and fiercely funny tale of a Mexican American writer searching for her place in the world where honorariums paid on time are hard to come by Serros proves that a writer's voice always rings true

Hybrid Fictions Daniel Grassian, 2015-09-11 Since the 1960s academics have theorized that literature is on its way to becoming obsolete or at the very least has lost part of its power as an influential medium of social and cultural critique This work argues against that misconception and maintains that contemporary American literature is not only alive and well but has grown in significant ways that reflect changes in American culture during the last twenty years In addition this work argues that beginning in the 1980s a new allied generation of American writers born from the late 1950s to the early 1970s has emerged whose hybrid fiction blend distinct elements of previous American literary movements and contain divided social cultural and ethnic allegiances The author explores psychological philosophical ethnic and technological hybridity The author also argues for the importance of and need for literature in contemporary America and considers its future possibilities in the realms of the Internet and hypertext David Foster Wallace Neal Stephenson Douglas Coupland Sherman Alexie William Vollmann Michele Serros and Dave Eggers are among the writers whose hybrid fictions are discussed

Welcome to Oxnard Cristina Herrera, 2024-07-15 Michele Serros 1966 2015 is widely known for her groundbreaking book Chicana Falsa and Other

Stories of Death Identity and Oxnard Despite her status as a major figure in Chicana literature no scholar has written a book length examination of her body of poetry fiction and nonfiction until now Cristina Herrera also from Oxnard weaves in history autoethnography and literary analysis to explore Chicana adolescence and young womanhood with a focus on place making Factoring in location region and landscape Herrera asks what it means to grow up Chicana in settings that carry centuries of colonial violence segregation and everyday racism against Mexican American communities She contends that Serros used her hometown to broaden understandings of who and what constitutes Chicana communities and identities By reading Serros s work in tandem with her lived experience in the same setting Herrera uncovers moments of adolescent subjectivity that could only be vocalized and constructed within this particular locale Herrera pushes against the tendency to separate the author from the text and argues for a spatial understanding of Chicana adolescence race class and young womanhood
