Social Media at BBC News

Valerie Belair-Gagnon, 2015-02-11 Since the emergence of social media in the journalistic landscape the BBC has sought to produce reporting more connected to its audience while retaining its authority as a public broadcaster in crisis reporting Using empirical analysis of crisis news production at the BBC this book shows that the emergence of social media at the BBC and the need to manage this kind of material led to a new media logic in which tech savvy journalists take on a new centrality in the newsroom In this changed context the politico economic and socio cultural logic have led to a more connected newsroom involving this new breed of journalists and BBC audience This examination of news production events shows that in the midst of transformations in journalistic practices and norms including newsgathering sourcing distribution and impartiality the BBC has reasserted its authority as a public broadcaster Click here for a short video about the book

Disinformation in the Global South Herman Wasserman, Dani

Madrid-Morales, 2022-04-19 A timely and incisive exploration of disinformation and its impact in the Global South In Disinformation in the Global South media and communications scholars Herman Wasserman and Dani Madrid Morales deliver a unique and geographically diverse collection of perspectives on the phenomenon of disinformation as it manifests in the Global South. In many parts of the Global South, coordinated political disinformation campaigns, rumor, and propaganda have long been a part of the social fabric, even before disinformation has become an area of scholarship in the Global North. The way disinformation manifests in this region and responses to it can therefore be highly instructive for readers around the world. Through case studies and comparative analyses, the book explores the impact of disinformation in Africa, Latin America, the Arab World, and Asia. The chapters in this book discuss the similarities and differences of disinformation in different regions and provide a broad thematic overview of the phenomenon as it manifests across the Global South. After analyzing core concepts, theories, and histories from Southern perspectives, contributors explore the experiences of media users and the responses to disinformation by various social actors, drawing on examples from a dozen countries. Disinformation in the Global South also includes a thorough introduction to Southern perspectives on national histories, theories of disinformation, and research methods in disinformation studies. Global case studies of cultures of disinformation, including ethnographic insights into how audiences engage with disinformation, comprehensive explorations of responses to online and offline disinformation, including discussions of news literacy and the management of disinformation, a valuable resource for scholars of disinformation everywhere, as well as senior undergraduate and graduate students in courses covering transnational or global perspectives to communication studies. Disinformation in the Global South is also an ideal reference for anyone studying or working in media or journalism.
