XML in Scientific Computing Constantine Pozrikidis, 2012-09-17 While the extensible markup language XML has received a great deal of attention in web programming and software engineering far less attention has been paid to XML in mainstream computational science and engineering Correcting this imbalance XML in Scientific Computing introduces XML to scientists and engineers in a way that illustrates the similarities and differences with traditional programming languages and suggests new ways of saving and sharing the results of scientific calculations The author discusses XML in the context of scientific computing demonstrates how the extensible stylesheet language XSL can be used to perform various calculations and explains how to create and navigate through XML documents using traditional languages such as Fortran C and MATLAB A suite of computer programs are available on the author's website

SOFSEM'99: Theory and Practice of Informatics Jan Pavelka, Gerard Tel, Miroslav Bartosek, 2003-07-31 This year the SOFSEM conference is coming back to Milovy in Moravia to be held for the 26 time Although born as a local Czechoslovak event 25 years ago SOFSEM did not miss the opportunity offered in 1989 by the newly found freedom in our part of Europe and has evolved into a full edged international conference For all the changes however it has kept its generalist and multidisciplinary character The track of invited talks ranging from Trends in Theory to Software and Information Engineering attest to this Apart from the topics mentioned above SOFSEM 99 offers invited talks exploring core technologies talks tracing the path from data to knowledge and those describing a wide variety of applications The rich collection of invited talks presents one traditional facet of SOFSEM that of a winter school in which IT researchers and professionals get an opportunity to see more of the large pasture of today's computing than just their favourite grazing corner To facilitate this purpose the prominent researchers delivering invited talks usually start with a broad overview of the state of the art in a wider area and then gradually focus on their particular subject

3D Geo-Information Sciences Jiyeong Lee, Siyka Zlatanova, 2008-10-24 In recent years 3D geo information has become an important research area due to the increased complexity of tasks in many geo scientific applications such as sustainable urban planning and development civil engineering risk and disaster management and environmental monitoring Moreover a paradigm of cross application merging and integrating of 3D data is observed The problems and challenges facing today's 3D software generally application oriented focus almost exclusively on 3D data transportability issues the ability to use data originally developed in one modelling visualisation system in other and vice versa Tools for elaborated 3D analysis simulation and prediction are either missing or when available dedicated to specific tasks In order to respond to this increased demand a new type of system has to be developed A fully developed 3D geo information system should be able to manage 3D geometry and topology to integrate 3D geometry and thematic information to analyze both spatial and topological relationships and to present the data in a suitable form In addition to the simple geometry types like point line and polygon a large variety of parametric representations freeform curves and surfaces or sweep shapes have to be supported Approaches for seamless conversion between 3D raster and 3D vector representations should be available they should allow analysis of a representation most suitable for a specific application circumstances e.g. while moving around with their hands or eyes busy or when the environment is constrained e.g. the keyboard and the mouse are not available. In order to go beyond the GUI constraints the Multimodal MM UIs appear as a paradigm that provide users with great expressive power, naturalness and flexibility. In this thesis we argue that developing MM UIs combining graphical and vocal modalities is an activity that could benefit from the application of a methodology which is composed of a set of models, a method manipulating these models and the tools implementing the method. Therefore we define a design space based method that is supported by model to model colored transformations in order to obtain MM UIs of information systems. The design space is composed of explicitly defined design options that clarify the development process in a structured way in order to require less design effort. The feasibility of the methodology is demonstrated through three case studies with different levels of complexity and coverage. In addition an empirical study is conducted with end users in order to measure the relative usability level provided by different design decisions.

DEXA covers a broad field: all aspects of databases, knowledge based systems, knowledge management, web based systems, information systems related technologies and their applications. Once again there were a good number of submissions: out of 183 papers that were submitted the program committee selected 92 to be presented. In the first year of this new millennium DEXA has come back to the United Kingdom following events in Vienna, Berlin, Valencia, Prague, Athens, London, Zurich, Toulouse, Vienna and Florence. The past decade has seen several revolutionary developments, one of which was the explosion of Internet related applications in the areas covered by DEXA, developments in which DEXA has played a role and in which DEXA will continue to play a role in its second decade starting with this conference.

Batch Modernization on z/OS Mike Ebberts, Elsie Ramos, Snehal Antani, Patrick Bruinsma, Manuel Mueller, Martin Packer, Christian Strauer, Sridhar Sudarsan, Susann Thomas, Andreas Wagner, Janet Wall, IBM Redbooks, 2012-07-26. Mainframe computers play a central role in the daily operations of many of the world's largest corporations and batch processing is a fundamental part of the workloads that run on the mainframe. A large portion of the workload on IBM z/OS systems is processed in batch mode. Although several IBM Redbooks publications discuss application modernization on the IBM z/OS platform, this book specifically addresses batch processing in detail. Many different technologies are available in a batch environment on z/OS systems. This book demonstrates these technologies and shows how the z/OS system offers a sophisticated environment for batch. In this practical book we discuss a variety of themes that are of importance for batch workloads on z/OS systems and offer examples that you can try on your own system. The audience for this book includes IT architects and application developers with a focus on batch processing on the z OS platform     Virtual Learning Environments: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools and Applications Management Association, Information Resources,2012-01-31 As the world rapidly moves online sectors from management industry government and education have broadly begun to virtualize the way people interact and learn Virtual Learning Environments Concepts Methodologies Tools and Applications is a three volume compendium of the latest research case studies theories and methodologies within the field of virtual learning environments As networks get faster cheaper safer and more reliable their applications grow at a rate that makes it difficult for the typical practitioner to keep abreast With a wide range of subjects spanning from authors across the globe and with applications at different levels of education and higher learning this reference guide serves academics and practitioners alike indexed and categorized easily for study and application
