Life Science Mind The Gap Caps 2014:

Epistemic Justice, Mindfulness, and the Environmental Humanities Janelle Adsit, 2021-11-29 Epistemic Justice Mindfulness and the Environmental Humanities explores how contemplative pedagogies and mindfulness can be used in the classroom to address epistemic and environmental injustice In recent years there has been a groundswell of interest in contemplative pedagogies in higher education with increasing attention from the environmental sciences environmental humanities and sustainability studies Teachers and writers have demonstrated how mindfulness practices can be a key to anti oppression and anti racist efforts both in and out of the classroom Not all forms of contemplative pedagogy are suited for this anti colonial and anti oppressive resistance however Simply adopting mindfulness practices in the classroom is not enough to dislodge and dismantle white supremacy in higher education Epistemic Justice Mindfulness and the Environmental Humanities advocates for mindfulness practices that affirm multiple epistemologies and cultural traditions Written for educators in the environmental humanities and other related disciplines the chapters interrogate the western uptake of mindfulness practices and suggest anti colonial and anti oppressive methods for bringing mindfulness into the classroom The chapters also discuss what mindfulness practices have to offer to the pursuit of a culturally relevant pedagogy This highly applied and practical text will be an insightful read for educators in the environmental humanities and across the liberal arts disciplines

Poetry and Mindfulness Bryan Walpert, 2017-11-01 At a time when the Humanities are under threat this book offers a defense of poetry within the context of growing interest in mindfulness in business health care and education The book argues that the benefits and insights mindfulness provides are also cultivated by the study of poetry These benefits include a focus on the present the ability to see through scripts and habits a rethinking of subjectivity and the development of ecological or systems thinking Bryan Walpert employs close readings of traditional and experimental poetry and draws on scientific studies of the effects of mindfulness or reading literature on the brain It argues the skills that poetry like mindfulness cultivates are useful beyond the page or classroom and ultimately are necessary to engage with such global issues as the environmental crisis

The Apocrypha through History Edmon L. Gallagher, 2025-03-19 The deuterocanonical books otherwise called the Apocrypha have been a part of Christian Bibles for as long as there has been a Christian Bible For just as long there have been disputes about their authority Are they canonical Scripture or merely edifying literature These opposing positions can be found in the Church Fathers of the fourth and fifth centuries who in turn influenced the entire subsequent discussion The deuterocanonical books were almost always considered beneficial often canonical though there emerged with the Reformation in the sixteenth century Christian writers who disputed even the value of these books suggesting that they might pose dangers to the faithful The Apocrypha through History surveys the entire history of this issue with a concentration on materials in Hebrew Greek and Latin for the earlier period or English and German for the later period Edmon L Gallagher explores the origins of the deuterocanonical books and their reception in Judaism and Christianity with separate chapters on the New Testament the patristic period the Latin West the Greek East the Reformation and the English Bible At each stage the book investigates who considered the deuterocanonical books to be fully canonical or not and why The Apocrypha through History provides a thorough yet accessible examination of one aspect of the history of the Bible concluding with a chapter reflecting on whether it makes a difference if one's bible includes the deuterocanonical books
