Emily Hobhouse and the Reports on the Concentration Camps during the Boer War, 1899-1902 Birgit Seibold, 2011-11-01 The black spot the one very black spot in the picture is the frightful mortality in the Concentration Camps I entirely agree with you in thinking that while a hundred explanations may be offered and a hundred excuses made they do not really amount to any adequate defence I should much prefer to say at once so far as the Civil authorities are concerned that we were suddenly confronted with a problem not of our making with which it was beyond our power properly to grapple And no doubt its vastness was not realised soon enough It was not till six weeks or two months ago that it dawned on me personally I cannot speak for others that the enormous mortality was not merely incidental to the first formation of the camps and the sudden inrush of thousands of people already sick and starving but was going to continue The fact that it continues is no doubt a condemnation of the Camp system The whole thing I think now has been a mistake Alfred Milner to Joseph Chamberlain December 7th 1901 The British scorched earth policy during the last phase of the Anglo Boer War of 1899-1902 led to the burning of farms the destruction of homesteads harvests and livestock and to the internment of the civil population in the so called concentration camps There people mainly women and children died of malnutrition and diseases such as measles pneumonia and typhoid The death rate in the camps was so high nearly 28 000 white Boers succumbed that the English population renowned for its gallantry and chivalry was consternated Lloyd George blamed his government for its policy of extermination Campbell Bannerman spoke of methods of barbarism and philanthropic institutions protested led by Emily Hobhouse who was the first civilian to investigate the conditions of the camps The government reacted and sent a ladies commission under the leadership of Millicent Garrett Fawcett to South Africa Birgit Seibold s study is the first to compare the inofficial and the official report on the camps and to give an insight into conditions in each of the thirty three white concentration camps Based on first hand research among the Hobhouse manuscripts this book is both scholarly and compulsively readable Emily Bellefontaine Christopher Yerf,1908 Emily Chester Anne Moncure Crane married him and been carried off to the wild Scottish island of Irasa to live in his ancestral home along with his eccentric mother Coco and the dog Walter Scott She d never have met the wild and mysterious Marina a wraith from Rory s past nor her brother the disagreeable Finn Maclean never have spent a night in a haunted highland castle or been caught stealing roses in a see through nightie There is no one else like Cooper Guardian The Jane Austen of our time HARPERS QUEEN The funniest and sharpest writer there is Jenny Colgan Flawlessly entertaining Helen Fielding cover may vary Lived Economies of Default Joe Deville,2015-02-11 Consumer credit borrowing using credit cards store cards and personal loans is an important and routine part of many of our lives But what happens when these everyday forms of borrowing go bad when people start to default on their loans and when they cannot or will not repay It is this poorly understood controversial but central part of both the consumer credit industry and the lived experiences of an increasing number of people that this book explores Drawing on research from the interior of the debt collections industry as well as debtors own accounts and historical research into technologies of lending and collection it examines precisely how this ever more sophisticated globally connected market functions It focuses on the highly intimate techniques used to try and recoup defaulting debts from borrowers as well as on the collection industry s relationship with lenders Joe Deville follows a journey of default from debtors borrowing practices to the intrusion of collections technologies into their homes and everyday lives to the collections organisation to attempts by debtors to seek outside help In the process he shows how to understand this particular market we need to understand the central role played within it by emotion and affect By opening up for scrutiny an area of the economy which is often hidden from view this book makes a major contribution both to understanding the relationship between emotion and calculation in markets and the role of consumer credit in our societies and economies This book will be of interest to students teachers and researchers in a range of fields including sociology anthropology cultural studies economics and social psychology Emily Bronte and Beethoven Robert K. Wallace,2008-08-01 When Emily Bront was studying music in Brussels in 1842 she was drawn into the city s appreciation of Beethoven After her exposure to the works of the great composer Bront s creativity flourished and she went on to compose what was to be her only novel Wuthering Heights In Emily Bront and Beethoven Robert K Wallace continues to work from the perspective he developed in his Jane Austen and Mozart integrating two fields that have traditionally been kept apart Wallace compares Bront and Beethoven through a close examination of the Romantic traits that their works share Innovative and stimulating Wallace s study extends literary criticism into a new context where equilibrium balance proportion and symmetry serve as a fulcrum to launch the reader into a new understanding of the formal parallels the moods and emotions that connect music and literature The Southeastern Reporter ,1891
