Hand,2022-02-15

Data describe and represent the world However no matter how big they may be data sets don t indeed cannot capture everything Data are measurements and as such they represent only what has been measured They don t necessarily capture all the information that is relevant to the questions we may want to ask If we do not take into account what may be missing unknown in the data we have we may find ourselves unwittingly asking questions that our data cannot actually address come to mistaken conclusions and make disastrous decisions In this book David Hand looks at the ubiquitous phenomenon of missing data He calls this dark data making a comparison to dark matter i e matter in the universe that we know is there but which is invisible to direct measurement He reveals how we can detect when data is missing the types of settings in which missing data are likely to be found and what to do about it It can arise for many reasons which themselves may not be obvious for example asymmetric information in wars time delays in financial trading dropouts in clinical trials deliberate selection to enhance apparent performance in hospitals policing and schools etc What becomes clear is that measuring and collecting more and more data big data will not necessarily lead us to better understanding or to better decisions We need to be vigilant to what is missing or unknown in our data so that we can try to control for it How do we do that We can be alert to the causes of dark data design better data collection strategies that sidestep some of these causes and we can ask better questions of our data which will lead us to deeper insights and better decisions Mobile Broadband Communications for Public Safety Ramon Ferrús, Oriol Sallent, 2015-08-07 This book provides a timely and comprehensive overview of the introduction of LTE technology for PPDR communications It describes the operational scenarios and emerging multimedia and data centric applications in demand and discusses the main techno economic drivers that are believed to be pivotal for an efficient and cost effective delivery of mobile broadband PPDR communications The capabilities and features of the LTE standard for improved support of mission critical communications e g proximity services group communications are covered in detail Also different network implementation options to deliver mobile broadband PPDR communications services over dedicated or commercial LTE based networks are discussed including the applicability of the Mobile Virtual Network Operator MVNO model and other hybrid models Radio spectrum matters are also discussed in depth outlining spectrum needs and providing an outlook into allocated and candidate spectrum bands for PPDR communications and suitable dynamic spectrum sharing solutions in PPDR communications Explanations are accompanied by a vast collection of references that allow the more intrigued reader to gain further insight into the addressed topics Beyond Ukraine Tim Sweijs, Jeffrey H.
