Emerging Issues in Sustainable Development Mitsuo Matsushita,Thomas J. Schoenbaum,2016-10-05 This book seeks to answer the questions how do the rules of international treaties on trade and investment apply to the new laws and policies relating to energy related trade and do the rules of the multilateral system contribute to or detract from sustainable development An emerging set of new problems in the law of international trade is how to reconcile the rules of the multilateral trading system with shortages of certain natural resources and the necessity to develop renewable energy resources The chapters in this book provide a comprehensive analysis of the international trade issues presented by national trade laws and policies with regard to natural resources and energy This book is about the extent to which we are interpreting existing rules to cover emerging problems and how the rules of the multilateral trading system can be adapted to achieve sustainable development in natural resources and energy The book begins with a survey of selected national laws relating to recent restrictions on the export of natural resources both resources used to produce energy as well as natural resources essential for industrial production After examining the range of such laws in selected important countries we turn to the application of the rules of the multilateral trading system to such export restrictions We discuss the major rules of the World Trade Organization WTO as well as the natural resources rules in selected regional preferential free trade agreements While there is not a comprehensive global legal regime on competition law we believe it is also important to examine how selected national competition laws impact export restrictions on natural resources This book will be a major contribution to the international dialogue on international economic law issues with respect to trade in natural resources and energy The Achievement Gap in Reading Rosalind Horowitz, S. Jay Samuels, 2017-04-07 In this volume prominent scholars experts in their respective fields and highly skilled in the research they conduct address educational and reading research from varied perspectives and address what it will take to close the achievement gap with specific attention to reading The achievement gap is redefined as a level at which all groups can compete economically in our society and have the literacy tools and habits needed for a good life Bringing valuable theoretical frameworks and in depth analytical approaches to interpretation of data the contributors examine factors that contribute to student achievement inside the school but which are also heavily influenced by out of school factors such as poverty and economics ethnicity and culture family and community stratifications and approaches to measurement of achievement These out of school factors present possibilities for new policies and practice The overarching theme is that achievement gaps in reading are complex and that multiple perspectives are necessary to address the problem The breadth and depth of perspectives and content in this volume and its conceptualization of the achievement gap are a significant contribution to the field Achieving Next Generation Literacy Maureen Connolly, Vicky Giouroukakis, 2016-04-29 As a teacher what you want most is for your students to learn to immerse themselves in rich and challenging content and leave your classroom better prepared for school and life In English language arts and humanities this includes developing the multifaceted reading writing thinking and communication skills that constitute next generation literacy including the ability to Read complex text independently Develop strong content knowledge through reading writing listening and speaking Tailor communication in response to different audiences tasks purposes and disciplines Comprehend text as well as critique it Value evidence in arguments they read hear or develop Use technology strategically and capably Understand perspectives and cultures that differ from their own But as a teacher you also know how much is riding on THOSE TESTS achievement tests from the national assessment consortia the SAT and ACT and independent state assessments Is it possible to help students succeed on mandated tests without sacrificing your values your creativity and their education Yes it is possible This book shows you how This not a test prep book It is not about drill and kill practices that narrow learning so that students will pass an exam Instead authors Maureen Connolly and Vicky
