How To Live 36days A Year:

36 Days Hugh Dolan,2010-08-01 When Australian troops stormed ashore in the pre dawn darkness of April 25th 1915 it was the culmination of one of the most complex and daunting operations in the history of warfare the seaborne assault of a heavily fortified shore defended by a well prepared and forewarned enemy The risks were enormous and the death toll on the beach at Anzac Cove could have been murderous as it was with the British landings further south Yet the Anzacs had been allowed to organise their own assault and their ingenuity intelligence gathering and willingness to do the unorthodox allowed them to seize a foothold and fulfil the task they had been set by their commanders All too often the scale of that task and the successful way the Anzacs approached it have been overshadowed by events later in the campaign Hugh Dolan a senior intelligence officer in the Australian military has minutely re examined the assault itself giving us a day by day account of the build up to the landing that shows a very different side to the Gallipoli story Using a host of previously unpublished material and research he has produced a riveting work of narrative history that sheds a fresh light on the original Anzacs A Practical Guide to Managing Tourist Experiences Isabelle Frochot,2021-12-30 This book provides students with a concise and practical guide that presents key understandings of the tourist experience and provides strategic guidance on how to develop an impactful and memorable experience Chapters follow the path of the tourist journey firstly exploring consumer behaviour the decision making process and the tourist s need for escape and providing insights into the strategic implications of consumer behaviour and the concept of immersion in tourism Subsequent chapters look at the impact of experiences consider trends in tourism experience such as wellness sustainability authenticity and fantasy and provide experience design models The final chapter offers a unique ten step approach to designing impactful and memorable tourist experiences Highly practical and engaging this book is packed full of case studies and examples from forest bathing in Finland to truffle hunting in Italy as well as tools and exercises to guide the design process This book offers students a full understanding of how the experience is lived from the tourist perspective how tourism providers can manage that process and how to develop successful experimental marketing interventions This is essential reading for all tourism students and future tourism managers Congressional Record United States.
