

Abstract

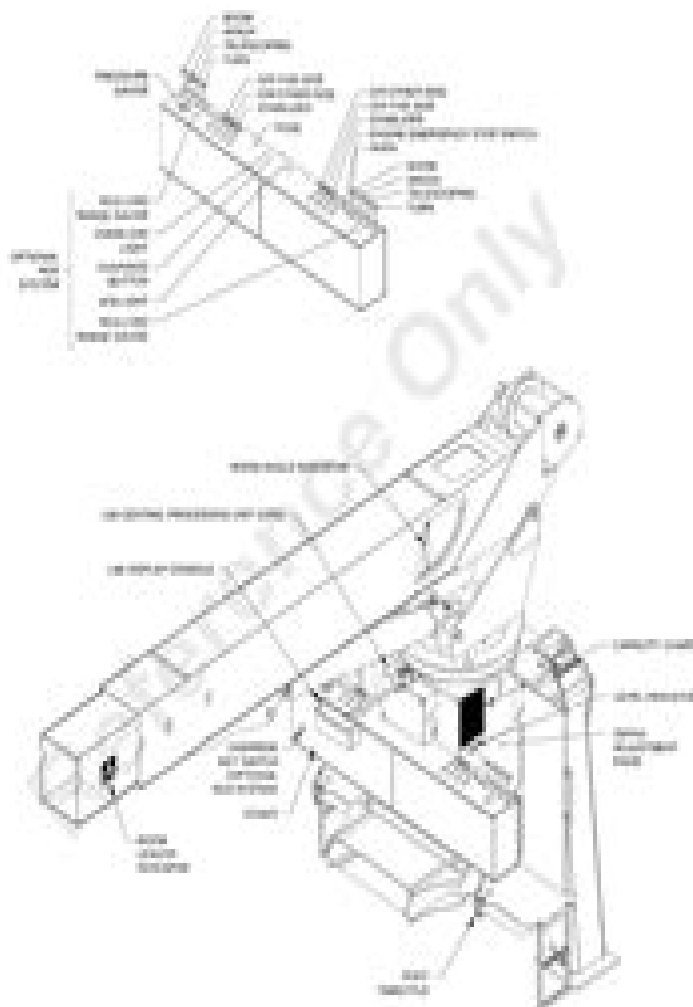

[illegible]

Table 1

All members of the crew should become thoroughly familiar with the location and operation of controls, the correct operating procedures, the maximum weight capacities and the safety procedures applicable to the unit before operating. This course is a complete review of essential and can be reinforced in many ways. Carefully review the operating procedures outlined below and in the instructional pages of the user's manual (part of the instructor's course).

Abstract

Systems like following checklists for entering the car or apartment

- Inspect in any adverse conditions such as poor hydraulic fluid or tampering of valves the operation, any leakage which may have past time or a warning sign of leakage or improper maintenance
- Check that the lines are released in the proper position
- Check the level of the hydraulic reservoir
- Check the operation of the 'stop' and 'down' valves
- Check for missing and loose bolts
- Check for damaged structural members and seals
- Check all pipe joints and cable hangers
- Check all shrouds for free turning
- Check the hydraulic control for leaks, broken pipes or other damage it accompanied with its shrouds & the 'Hydraulic & Mechanical' section
- Check to see that the hydraulic hoses are in good use in good condition and show no signs of swelling. The hoses should be free-flow and no obstructions and there should be no evidence of leaking. Any damage or leakage should be replaced immediately
- Check hydraulic A and air-line brake system or A/B and air-line brake system for proper operation

Water: Compact your interlocking bricks around the water pipe.

Key Operation Impacts and Mitigation Measures

1. Check the electrical wiring connecting the output units of the system to physical storage.
2. Check the air flow block switches and weights for the furnace.

000000

The following tests shall be performed with care to prevent damage to the machine or injury to personnel. Proper functioning of the system requires successful completion of these tests before operating the machine.

If the operator cannot use the load-handling facility supporting the chosen mode, he/she has to use an auxiliary input device, such as the load handling device. The operator will be progressively using the machine instead and, therefore, will not improve the L50 and L50max load-handling property. If the L50 is not equal to 0, the system is not functioning properly, lifting the anti-two-block weight will not improve the load handling ability in the middle distance between the two ACB columns, and will not lock the crane completely in the full, intermediate and anti-block states.

- Check the system before alarm-light goes on; the problem may be self-correcting, one of the following tests:
- Intermittently lift the weight attached to the sensitive alarm switches. When the weight is lifted, the audible alarm for the LHM or optional audible alarm for the optional MCA system should sound and the red low-thrust alarm light should light.
- Slightly raise the main boom load handling device to create a permanent low-thrust condition. When the load handling device lifts the weight, the audible alarm should sound, the red low-thrust alarm light should light and the status of the load handling device should be stopped. Lower the load handling device slowly to return to the normal condition.
- Slightly extend (telescope) the boom to create a permanent low-thrust condition. When the load handling device lifts the weight, the audible alarm should sound, the red low-thrust alarm light should light and the boom telescope should be locked (should be stopped). Lower the load handling device slowly to approximate the condition.

▶ FOLLOW

If the light and siren alarm is not function as described and the alarm components are not stopped, the system is not working properly. The malfunction shall be corrected before operating the alarm.

- If the crane is equipped with a boom deflector that is designed and meant to work, repeat the test procedure for the boom deflector and log your results.
