How People Learn II National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Science Education, Board on Behavioral, Cognitive, and Sensory Sciences, Committee on How People Learn II: The Science and Practice of Learning, 2018-10-27 There are many reasons to be curious about the way people learn and the past several decades have seen an explosion of research that has important implications for individual learning schooling workforce training and policy In 2000 How People Learn Brain Mind Experience and School Expanded Edition was published and its influence has been wide and deep The report summarized insights on the nature of learning in school aged children described principles for the design of effective learning environments and provided examples of how that could be implemented in the classroom Since then researchers have continued to investigate the nature of learning and have generated new findings related to the neurological processes involved in learning individual and cultural variability related to learning and educational technologies In addition to expanding scientific understanding of the mechanisms of learning and how the brain adapts throughout the lifespan there have been important discoveries about influences on learning particularly sociocultural factors and the structure of learning environments How People Learn II Learners Contexts and Cultures provides a much needed update incorporating insights gained from this research over the past decade The book expands on the foundation laid out in the 2000 report and takes an in depth look at the constellation of influences that affect individual learning How People Learn II will become an indispensable resource to understand learning throughout the lifespan for educators of students and adults Handbook of Leadership and Administration for Special Education Jean B. Crockett, Bonnie Billingsley, Mary Lynn Boscardin, 2018-07-03 The Handbook of Leadership and Administration for Special Education brings together research informing practice in leading special education from preschool through transition into postsecondary settings The second edition of this comprehensive handbook has been fully updated to provide coverage of disability policy historical roots policy and legal perspectives as well as effective collaborative and instructional leadership practices that support the administration of special education It can be used as a reference volume for scholars administrators practitioners and policy makers as well as a textbook for graduate courses related to the administration of special education Assessing Writing to Support Learning Sandra Murphy, Peggy O'Neill, 2022-11-08 In this book authors Murphy and O'Neill propose a new way forward moving away from high stakes test based writing assessment and the curriculum it generates and toward an approach to assessment that centers on student learning and success. Reviewing the landscape of writing assessment and existing research based theories on writing, the authors demonstrate how a test based approach to accountability and current practices have undermined effective teaching and learning of writing. This book bridges the gap between real world writing that takes place in schools, college and careers and the writing that students are asked to do in standardized writing assessments to offer a new ecological approach to writing assessment. Murphy and O'Neill's new way forward turns accountability inside out to help teachers understand the role of formative assessments and assessment as inquiry. It also brings the outside in by bridging the gap between authentic writing and writing assessment. Through these two strands, readers learn how assessment systems can be restructured to become better aligned with contemporary understandings of writing and with best practices in teaching. With examples of assessments from elementary school through college, chapters include guidance on designing assessments to address multiple kinds of writing, integrate reading with writing and incorporate digital technology and multimodality. Emphasizing the central role that teachers play in systemic reform, the authors offer sample assessments developed with intensive teacher involvement that support learning and provide information for the evaluation of programs and schools. This book is an essential resource for graduate students, instructors, scholars and policymakers in writing assessment, composition and English education. Automatic Item

Generation Mark J. Gierl, Thomas M. Haladyna, 2013. Automatic item generation (AIG) represents a relatively new and unique research area where specific cognitive and psychometric theories are applied to test construction practices for the purpose of producing test items using technology. The purpose of this book is to bring researchers and practitioners up to date on the growing body of research on AIG by organizing in one volume what is currently known about this research area. Part I begins with an overview of the concepts and topics necessary for understanding AIG by focusing on both its history and current applications. Part II presents two theoretical frameworks and practical applications of these frameworks in the production of item generation. Part III summarizes the psychological and substantive characteristics of generated items. Part IV concludes with a discussion of the statistical models that can be used to estimate the item characteristics of generated items. Features: one future application of AIG describes the current technologies used for AIG and also highlights the unresolved issues that must be addressed as AIG continues to mature as a research area. Comprehensive: The book provides a comprehensive analysis of both the theoretical concepts that define automatic item generation and the practical considerations required to implement these concepts. Varied Applications: Readers are provided with novel applications in diverse content areas e.g. science and reading comprehension that range across all educational levels, elementary through university. Advances in Applications of Rasch Measurement in Science Education Xiufeng Liu, William J.
