World Development Report 2018 World Bank Group, 2017-10-16 Every year the World Bank s World Development Report WDR features a topic of central importance to global development The 2018 WDR LEARNING to Realize Education s Promise is the first ever devoted entirely to education And the time is right education has long been critical to human welfare but it is even more so in a time of rapid economic and social change The best way to equip children and youth for the future is to make their learning the center of all efforts to promote education The 2018 WDR explores four main themes First education s promise education is a powerful instrument for eradicating poverty and promoting shared prosperity but fulfilling its potential requires better policies both within and outside the education system Second the need to shine a light on learning despite gains in access to education recent learning assessments reveal that many young people around the world especially those who are poor or marginalized are leaving school unequipped with even the foundational skills they need for life At the same time internationally comparable learning assessments show that skills in many middle income countries lag far behind what those countries aspire to And too often these shortcomings are hidden so as a first step to tackling this learning crisis it is essential to shine a light on it by assessing student learning better Third how to make schools work for all learners research on areas such as brain science pedagogical innovations and school management has identified interventions that promote learning by ensuring that learners are prepared teachers are both skilled and motivated and other inputs support the teacher learner relationship Fourth how to make systems work for learning achieving learning throughout an education system requires more than just scaling up effective interventions Countries must also overcome technical and political barriers by deploying salient metrics for mobilizing actors and tracking progress building coalitions for learning and taking an adaptive approach to reform

The Politics of Education in Developing Countries Samuel Hickey, Naomi Hossain, 2019 This book focuses on how politics shapes the capacity and commitment of elites to tackle the learning crisis in six developing countries It deploys a new conceptual framework to show how the type of political settlement shapes the level of elite commitment and state capacity to improving learning outcomes The New York Times Annalist, 1915 The effect of land inheritance on youth employment and migration decisions: Evidence from rural Ethiopia Kosec, Katrina, Ghebru, Hosaena, Holtemeyer, Brian, Mueller, Valerie, Schmidt, Emily, 2017-03-28 In Ethiopia there are two binding forces push and pull that deserve attention when it comes to youth occupational and spatial mobility choices and the national land use and transfer policy On the one hand the fact that the land rental market in Ethiopia is supply constrained due to market and policy distortions marginalizes youth and serves as a push factor leading them to look elsewhere for a livelihood strategy On the other hand the regulatory conditions and restrictions attached to land use and inheritance rights may serve as a pull factor and force youth to be tied to the rural and or farming sector Our study thus aims to explore how youth land access both inheritance and market based affects their migration and employment decisions We explore this question in the context of rural Ethiopia using panel data from 2010 and 2014 We find that larger expected land inheritances significantly lower the likelihood of long distance permanent migration and of permanent migration to urban areas during this time Inheriting more land is also associated with a significantly higher likelihood of employment in agriculture and a lower likelihood of employment in the nonagricultural sector Conversely the decision to attend school is unaffected These results appear to be most heavily driven by males and by the older half of our youth sample We also find several mediating factors matter Land inheritance plays a much more pronounced role in predicting rural to urban permanent migration and nonagricultural sector employment in areas with less vibrant land markets and in relatively remote areas those far from major urban centers Overall the results reaffirm the notion that push factors dominate pull factors in dictating occupational and migration decisions in Ethiopia and highlight youth preferences to use migration or non agricultural employment as a last resort after exhausting other means of accessing land such as temporary land rental Learning as Development Daniel A. Wagner, 2017-10-04 Learning is the foundation of the human experience It begins at birth and never stops a continuous and malleable link across life stages of human development Disparities in learning access and outcomes around the world have deep consequences for income social mobility health and well being For international development practitioners faced with today's unprecedented environmental and geopolitical pressures learning should be viewed as a touchstone and target for those seeking to truly effect global change This book traces the path of international development work from its pre colonial origins to the emergence of economics as the dominant discipline in the field and lays out a new agenda for policymakers researchers and practitioners from early education through adulthood Learning as Development is an attempt to rethink international education in a changing world The Budget of the United States Government United States. Bureau of the Budget, 1939 The Annalist, 1915 PISA The Experience of Middle-Income Countries Participating in PISA 2000-2015 Lockheed Marlaïne, Prokic-Bruer Tijana, Shadrova Anna, 2015-11-27 This report provides a systematic review and empirical evidence related to the experiences of middle income countries and economies

Christopher Klopfer, Steve Drew, 2015-10-30 Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching focuses on the emerging global governmental and institutional agenda about higher education teaching quality and the role that peer review can play in supporting improvements in teaching and student outcomes This agenda is a pervasive element of the further development of higher education internationally through activities of governments global agencies institutions of higher education discrete disciplines and individual teachers Many universities have adopted student evaluations as a mechanism to appraise the quality of teaching These evaluations can be understood as providing a customer centric portrait of quality and when used as the sole arbiter of teaching performance they do not instil confidence in the system of evaluation by academic teaching staff Providing peer perspectives as counterpoint whether in a developmental or summative form goes some way to alleviating this imbalance and is the impetus for the resurgence of interest in peer review and observation of teaching This book seeks to recognise cases of peer review of teaching in Higher Education to affirm best practices and identify areas that require improvement in establishing local national and international benchmarks of teaching quality
