Teaching Reading Comprehension to English Learners in Secondary Schools: A Research-Based Approach

Cekiso, Madoda, Olifant, Florence, Mokhtari, Kouider, 2025-04-23 Teaching reading comprehension to English learners ELs in secondary schools presents unique challenges as these students must navigate the complexities of academic texts and the intricacies of language acquisition. Effective instruction requires a research-based approach that considers the diverse linguistic, cultural, and cognitive backgrounds of these learners. Recent studies highlight the importance of integrating strategies that build both language proficiency and content knowledge, essential for helping ELs develop the skills needed to comprehend complex materials. Fostering metacognitive awareness through strategies like summarizing, questioning, and making connections can empower students to become active and strategic readers. This approach recognizes the need for a supportive, inclusive classroom environment that encourages language development while promoting academic achievement in content areas. Further research may help educators provide English learners with the tools to thrive as capable readers in secondary school. Teaching Reading Comprehension to English Learners in Secondary School: A Research-Based Approach explores various aspects of teaching reading comprehension to English Second Language (ESL) learners in secondary schools. It examines current challenges and evidence-based strategies in reading comprehension. This book covers topics such as language learning, reading strategies, and teacher training and is a useful resource for academicians, researchers, and scientists.

Early mathematics counts

Yasmin A. Sitabkhan, Linda Platas, 2018-07-23 This occasional paper examines common instructional strategies in early grade mathematics interventions through a review of studies in classrooms in low and middle income countries. Twenty-four studies met the criteria for inclusion and analyses reveal four sets of instructional strategies for which there is evidence from multiple contexts. Of the 24 studies, 16 involved the use of multiple representations, 10 involved the use of developmental progressions, 6 included supporting student use of explanation and justification, and 5 included integration of informal mathematics. Based on the review, we provide conclusions and recommendations for future research and policy.

Twenty-Twenty Hindsight

Mosiua Sekese, 2013-05-16 Twenty twenty hindsight means perfect understanding of events only after they have happened. In his book, Mosiua Sekese looks back on his life in the old and new South Africa and gives his own perceptive interpretation of the past events. Sekese suffered discrimination and prejudice under the old apartheid government as well as the new democratic regime. His story is highly personal but provides the reader with unique insights into the social and educational challenges that South Africa continues to grapple with. I had a quick read and I find the content heartbreaking but fascinating. Especially as a white South African, you are drawing me into a world that I always knew existed but which few people have the guts and conviction to paint into words. Louise Heystek, Emerton CEO, Wordwise Khuluma Awethu.

From GCSEs to EBCs Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Education Committee, 2013 The Government's plans for replacing GCSEs with new English Baccalaureate Certificates in some subjects is trying to do too much too fast. Introducing several fundamental changes at the same time and to a tight timetable will jeopardise the quality of the reforms and may threaten the stability of the wider exam system. GCSEs need significant improvements in order to restore public confidence in the exam system but the Government still needs to make the case that the GCSE brand is so discredited that it is beyond repair. MPs are also concerned about the impact of the changes on subjects outside the English Baccalaureate where students will be taking GCSEs for some time to come according to the Government's plans. The report also questions how well the Government's proposals will serve lower attaining pupils who are often the most disadvantaged. There is no evidence that the proposed changes will help to tackle under achievement or narrow the attainment gap between the richest and poorest students any more effectively than GCSEs. The Government is also called upon to re-think its plans for a Statement of Achievement specifically for lower attaining pupils. MPs agree that changes are needed to the way in which exams are run but they raise serious concerns about franchising subjects to exam boards. The report is critical of the Government's decision to abolish some GCSEs before publishing the outcomes of the National Curriculum Review and its proposed changes to the school accountability system. MPs also note the wide ranging stakeholder opposition to many of the Government's proposals.

Els, 2016-12-31. This publication contains original research targeting scientific specialists in the field of education through research endeavours grounded on a philosophical basis as well as being embedded in the empirical. The research methodology of each chapter emanates from applicable philosophical assumptions in the form of an applicable theoretical and conceptual framework. The latter forms a firm basis for the application of sound empiricism. The content of this book adds to the body of scholarly knowledge in education. In his evaluation of the book Acting Executive Dean Faculty of Education and Training Professor Akpovire Oduaran made the following remarks: 'To a large extent the ideas put together in this book have come from data generated not just from literature found in books and journals but actual interactions with educators and the learning environment. So then what the reader is offered in this volume is the articulation of ideas that have been interrogated, structured and presented in surprisingly simplistic and yet incisive and academically enriching content that can match the standards of scholarship that is available in the Western World. Yet what makes this book so welcome, relevant and timely is the fact that it is built around Afrocentric theories and practices such as one may find in imported literature.'
