modernize and professionalize Afghanistan's armed forces. However, these early attempts were limited in scope and largely symbolic as loyalty to tribe, ethnicity, and local power brokers often took precedence over national allegiance. The collapse of the Soviet-backed Afghan army following the withdrawal of Soviet troops in 1989 and the subsequent civil war left the country without a functioning central military. During the 1990s, various militia groups and warlord factions operated with near complete autonomy, eroding the notion of a unified national army. When the Taliban emerged in 1996, they created their own military forces, but these were more ideological and less structured as a national institution.
