As an avid lover of animals, Tracy Jones has dreamed of becoming a veterinarian since she was four years old. Her love of animals started at a young age, having grown up in a family which also consisted of two dogs, one cat, and two hamsters. When she was seven years old, her dog became diagnosed with cancer, and she nursed it for an entire year in order to minimize pain and prepare for rounds of chemotherapy. After her dog passed away, she became determined to become a doctor that would be able to treat animals and ensure their comfort.

Tracy attended Lady Jones High School, where she graduated with a GPA of 3.97. During her time in high school, she was active in many animal rights and advocacy groups, and was president of the Paws of Awareness club, where she led group efforts to find shelter for abandoned pets. Additionally, she took courses at her local community college which allowed her to get a head start on her college work. She is currently a sophomore at Trinity College, where she is currently in pre-veterinary studies. She currently has a GPA of 3.88, and volunteers twice a week at a local animal shelter providing basic healthcare and examinations for the animals housed there.

Tracy has an extensive volunteering list which has given her significant animal handling abilities and the skills needed to identify and treat basic diseases commonly seen in pets. She has volunteered at a feline shelter, helping to clean and feed animals, as well as providing basic care until the veterinarian could give the animals a thorough exam. She is also an advocacy blogger, who writes about her experiences online in order to teach people how to better take care of their pets and identify warning signs of disease that could possibly save the animal's life.

How To Write An Autobiography For A Scholarship:

Academic Writing Ilona Leki, 1998-07-13 This book provides instruction on the process writers go through to produce texts. It teaches attention to form, format, and accuracy. The central goals of the Student's Book are to teach the process that writers go through to produce texts and to provide instructions on how to meet the demands of the academy by attention to form and accuracy. One half of the book is devoted to leading the student through the process of writing from observation and experience. About a quarter of the book focuses on helping the student solve the writing problems typical of university level course work. The remaining part of the book contains an anthology of readings that correspond to the assignments used in the earlier portions of the text. Through an emphasis on the academic applications of writing and on exploring processes and strategies, this text helps students produce, prepare, and polish their writing. Auto/biography in Canada Julie Rak, 2009-08-02 Auto biography in Canada Critical Directions widens the field of auto biography studies with its sophisticated multidisciplinary perspectives on the theory, criticism, and practice of self, community, and representation. Rather than considering autobiography and biography as discrete genres with definable properties, and rather than focusing on critical approaches, the essays explore auto biography as a discourse about identity and representation in the context of numerous disciplinary shifts. Auto biography in Canada looks at how life narratives are made in Canada. Originating from literary studies, history, and social work, the essays in this collection cover topics that range from queer Canadian autobiography, autobiography and autism, and newspaper death notices as biography to Canadian autobiography and the Holocaust, Grey Owl, and authenticity. France Thoret and autofiction and a new reading of Stolen Life, the collaborative text by Yvonne Johnson and Rudy Wiebe. Julie Rak's useful big picture introduction traces the history of auto biography studies in Canada. While the contributors chart disciplinary shifts taking place in auto biography studies, their essays are also part of the ongoing scholarship that is remaking ways to understand Canada.
