Introduction

An African proverb says, "A village is needed to raise a child." This statement provides an affirmation of a common belief that a lot of people thrive and survive in different communal environments (societies, villages, and families). It is in these circles in which they relate to the feeling of mental, social, spiritual, and emotional support. Therefore, it becomes quite natural to think that among our most important responsibilities as human beings should be to take care and offer support to others. As we provide this support, it is also important that we keep the best interest of other people in mind. In other words, we should also extend our grace whenever possible as we introduce biases as little as possible.

Why Study Anthropology

The field of anthropology is essential to our society in general. From the very first time man walked on earth, there were a lot of challenges to their survival. He has developed different habits which allowed him to endure a lot of challenges and hardships. He has created places for shelters, protecting him from different elements. He also discovered the plants that were good for eating, and the ones that are deemed dangerous. He has also developed different ways on how to take advantage of the rich resources naturally offered by our planet. He has also created rituals and traditions to celebrate victories, good fortune and relationships. All of these experiences and knowledge were passed from one generation to another, guaranteeing survival, while reducing the burden of the succeeding generations. Anthropology refers to the science of studying all these things.

Money, Wealth and Expenditure Dorian Owen, 1986-07-31 The book develops and applies a modelling framework that enables consumers expenditure and portfolio behaviour to be analysed in an integrated manner It extends and applies the Yale approach to financial model building associated with James Tobin The basis of this approach is surveyed with particular emphasis on the empirical implementation of portfolio models in the UK US and other countries appropriate econometric estimation techniques and comparisons with other monetary modelling strategies Empirical application of the model is particularly addressed to testing whether the composition of wealth holdings is important for expenditure and asset demands whether concentration on money at the expense of other assets and liabilities is acceptable and whether the interrelationships stressed by Tobin's general equilibrium approach are statistically important The results have important implications for the recent literature on wealth effects on consumption and the overemphasis on money at the expense of other financial assets and liabilities Graduate Programs in Business, Education, Information Studies, Law & Social Work 2015 (Grad 6) Peterson's, 2014-12-30 Graduate Programs in Business Education Information Studies Law Social Work 2015 contains helpful facts and figures on more than 11 000 graduate programs The comprehensive directory includes more than 1 850 institutions and their programs in all of the relevant disciplines such as accounting and finance business management

Off-Campus Library Services Conference Proceedings Barton M. Lessin, 1989 Socialization and Aggression Adam Fraczek, Horst Zumkley, 2012-12-06 Authors from Europe and the USA give a summary in this book of the current psychological knowledge about the socialization determinants of human aggressive behavior development and outline theoretical perspectives as well as directions of future research. Thus the volume includes theoretical and conceptual chapters concerning socialization and sources of aggression. Part I chapters presenting a summary of empirical research on early developmental determinants of aggressive and antisocial behavior patterns. Part II chapters on the effects of social norms and education on aggression in children and youth. Part III and finally contributions analyzing relationship between aggression as a psychological phenomenon and socio cultural phenomena and processes. Part IV. The contributing authors have outstanding research experience and significant publications on socialization and aggression development. Their studies are embedded in various philosophical traditions and specific socio cultural experiences. The book therefore provides a wide range of approaches and syntheses of current research.

Health Humanities in Postgraduate Medical Education Allan D. Peterkin, Anna Skorzewska, 2018-08-24. Most medical schools in the US, Canada, and UK now incorporate some form of arts and humanities based teaching into their curricula. What happens in residency is another story. Most postgraduate programs do not continue the thread of such teaching although many residents would like to deepen their understanding of the medical humanities before they move into practice. The humanities emphasize the human side of medicine and can provide a counterpoint to the reductionism of evidence based medicine and technological hubris for young doctors as they apply new knowledge and skills in ambiguous real life encounters with patients who are living with complicated health problems. Humanities based education can help both sides of the relationship. Programs are shown to reduce burnout and mental health issues in young physicians and can also help learning practitioners grapple with the most difficult aspects of their craft. How does one persuade patients on a course of treatment while respecting informed consent? How does one work with families? How does one listen to and treat patients exhibiting self-harm tendencies? Available research may demonstrate the efficacy of such exposures but provide little practical advice or resources for setting up programs across specialty and sub-specialty disciplines. Health Humanities in Post Graduate Medical Education will fill this gap in knowledge translation for the thousands of residency programs worldwide, allowing educators, supervisors, and residents themselves to create robust and educationally sound workshops, seminars, study groups, lecture series, research, and arts based projects, publications, and events.
