

Day 2 Another Chart:

Strategies for Generating Personal Narrative Writing:

- Think of a person who matters to you, the small moments you've connected to, touched, and witnessed.
- Think of three times, last times, or times you realized something, the earlier you could tell about each, and witness.
- Think about a place that matters, the small moments that occurred in that place, and witness.
- Think of a strong feeling. List scenes of particular times you felt it, and write one.
- Live differently because you are a writer. Notice small moments and capture them in scenes.
- Read that would another author has written and allow them to speak your own story ideas.

Day 3

Strong writers know that when they are creating a narrative, they don't just chronicle connected their lives. They interpret them. When analyzing their life stories, they ask, "What are the big ideas here?" and then they look for themes and issues that appear again and again in their stories and memories.

Day 4

Strong writers know the phrase, "The bigger the meaning, the smaller you write." This simply means that when you want to share big ideas, it's effective to do it by writing small stories.

Day 4 Another Chart:

How to Write Out the Big Ideas in a Story

- Make sure your story starts strongly in a way that shows the big ideas/themes.
- Sketch out the part of the story that illustrates the big ideas/themes.
"Un-theoretical, internal thinking, and details to put out this part."

Day 5

Strong writers read and listen to literature in order to help them write powerfully. They don't write about the text, they write off from the text, considering some of the strong words and thinking about what those words mean to them.

Day 5 Another Chart:

When reading another author's text, writers are often inspired by....

1. The actual topic the writer writes about.
2. The themes or issues the writer puts forth.
3. A word, phrase, or image the author uses.

Day 6

Strong writers know that the process of developing a full-blown piece of writing has many layers and can go many more ways than they might expect. Writers might start with a metaphor, a collection of related stories, or even just a tiny moment of a thought. It helps them to study their other authors go about this before planning for their own process.

Day 6 Another Chart:

Continue with Creative Ideas

- Read stories and mark the parts that light sparks or stand-out.
- Read marked stories, looking for connections, and patterns, between them.
- Create ideas by writing to explore patterns and ideas.
- Don't stop with the first ideas you find. Look for others to use or themes that reinforce several others.
- Choose one theme or issue and read the stories related to it.
- Plan an entry that combines thoughts and stories related to this theme/issue.

Dramathemes Larry Swartz, 1995 Uses themes as a springboard for drama through games mime storytelling improvisation and choral speaking Themes include humour mystery fantasy animals relationships folklore the past and multiculturalism_ The Art of Teaching Reading Lucy Calkins,2001 Lucy Calkins has written a book with the goal of creating lifelong readers The Art of Teaching Reading offers educators a multifaceted reading program supported by word study guided reading book talks and other ongoing structures to produce impassioned readers Through years of research the author provides a myriad of ideas to help young readers discover their own joy of reading and love of books This text focuses on the big picture of reading instruction and explores the goals of reading programs It also provides information on comprehending and responding to text through synthesis critique writing and other effective strategies for understanding For teachers or future teachers or educators Resources in Education,1993-12 Welcome to Lizard Motel Barbara Feinberg,2004 Unsettled by the fact that her twelve year old son an ardent reader hated most of the books assigned to him in school Barbara Feinberg set out to discover just what kids are reading these days Much to her dismay she found that novels about abandonment kidnapping abuse and more have become standard fare in many middle school classrooms Pre adolescents these novels seem to suggest ought to be confronted in fiction with real life problems straight on with no magical dimension and limited imaginative scope In fact the child characters in these books often must face their stark circumstances nearly alone without adult shelter You have only yourself these novels seem to say Adults cannot help you they are often the source of your troubles Weaving literary analysis with memoir told in a playful elegiacal style Welcome to Lizard Motel sets its inquiry into books and stories in the context of an unfolding narrative of family life And as the narrative takes on a novel like velocity of its own stories become the lens through which Feinberg reflects on our own notions of childhood both observed and remembered our cultures rendering of childhood and the surprising disconnect between the two Small Moments Lucy Calkins, Abby Oxenhorn Smith,2003 Part of a collection of units which make up a year long curriculum about primary writing Memoir Writing for 5th Grade Students Alfred D. Tietjen,2011 This thesis is an examination of a popular K 8 writing instruction method The Writing Workshop by Lucy Calkins While studying and becoming familiar with the theory and practice of that method it became apparent that its single most important component of the method is the scaffolding provided through discovery of personal meaning in the writing process which imbues the instructional lessons throughout One of the units in the 5th grade teaching the memoir genre held specific interest to me due to my professional and personal experiences A hypothesis is presented that the development stage of children at this age beginning to look outward while confronting profound physical and emotional changes in conjunction with a growing wariness of adult imposed obligations i e school could benefit from self directed reflection It should be the perfect time to develop a habit of examining feelings and beginning to trust personal motivations for behavior Reflective writing would be a valuable skill to develop What emerged in this project was a demonstration of recording through the memoir genre the personal experiences in a period of life my graduate school experience with an analysis of how this writing strengthened personal understanding of the major components of process writing instruction used in The Writing Workshop method To connect memoir writing in graduate school and analysis of writing for the 5th grade classroom an extended unit plan to teach memoir composition over the entire 5th grade period was drafted A rationale for how the lessons were chosen accompanies the unit plan
