Scott Fitzgerald, 2010-07-06 A vibrant self portrait of an artist whose work was his life In this new collection of F Scott Fitzgerald's letters edited by leading Fitzgerald scholar and biographer Matthew J Bruccoli we see through his own words the artistic and emotional maturation of one of America's most enduring and elegant authors A Life in Letters is the most comprehensive volume of Fitzgerald's letters many of them appearing in print for the first time The fullness of the selection and the chronological arrangement make this collection the closest thing to an autobiography that Fitzgerald ever wrote While many readers are familiar with Fitzgerald's legendary jazz age social life and his friendships with Ernest Hemingway Gertrude Stein Edmund Wilson and other famous authors few are aware of his writings about his life and his views on writing Letters to his editor Maxwell Perkins illustrate the development of Fitzgerald's literary sensibility those to his friend and competitor Ernest Hemingway reveal their difficult relationship The most poignant letters here were written to his wife Zelda from the time of their courtship in Montgomery Alabama during World War I to her extended convalescence in a sanatorium near Asheville North Carolina Fitzgerald is by turns affectionate and proud in his letters to his daughter Scottie at college in the East while he was struggling in Hollywood For readers who think primarily of Fitzgerald as a hard drinking playboy for whom writing was effortless these letters show his serious painstaking concerns with creating realistic durable art Stairs to Nowhere Valerie Campbell, 2023-12-22 Two World War II soldiers are hunted and trapped in a burned out hole in the ground Eighty years later Elizabeth a home health nurse finds a body

Against the Odds Kat Martin, 2012-12-18 Mr Justice Mr Justice can you give us a moment of your time Sabrina Eckhart stared at the news broadcast on KTRK TV She had watched the segment run on an earlier edition but found herself watching it again The reporter a small man with dark hair and a determined expression hurried to keep up with Alex Justice's long strides as he walked out of the downtown Houston Police Department building Mr Justice At the sight of several TV cameras Alex's steps reluctantly slowed Everyone in the city is grateful for what you did the reporter said People are calling you a hero What do you think about that The man thrust a microphone into Alex's handsome face Six two dark blond hair and blue eyes always dressed as if he'd just stepped out of a GQ magazine Alex Justice was an amazing looking man I'm a private investigator Alex said I did what I was paid to do find evidence that would identify the killer of a ten year old girl I was lucky enough to make that happen There's nothing heroic about it It's been said you'll do anything to catch your man Is that true Alex just kept walking There wasn't a glimpse of the deep dimples bracketing his mouth that Rina remembered so well She hadn't seen him in more than six months not since the day her best friend Sage Du mont married Jake Cantrell one of Alex's best friends Rina watched him stride away until he disappeared offscreen then the camera cut to the reporter who relayed the story of the little girl who had been abducted sexually abused and murdered three years ago Ten year old Carrie Wiseman's killer had never been found not until Alex Justice had come up with DNA evidence that directly linked the girl to a neighbor who lived down the street from her home Two days ago the neighbor Edward Bagley Half Moon Street Anne Perry, 2007-12-18 BONUS This edition contains excerpts from Anne Perry's Treason at Lisson Grove and Execution Dock For Superintendent Thomas Pitt the sight of the dead man riding the morning tide of the Thames is unforgettable The corpse lies in a battered punt drifting through the early mist clad in a torn green gown and bestrewn with flowers Pitt's determined search for answers to the victim's identity leads him deep into London's bohemia to the theatre where beautiful Cecily

Antrim is outraging society with her bold portrayal of a modern woman and into studios where masters of light and shadow are experimenting with the fascinating new art of photography But only Pitt s masterly investigative skills enable him to identify the wildfire passions raging through this tragedy of good and evil to hunt down the guilty and protect the innocent

Twentieth Century Parody, American and British Burling Lowrey, 1960 Good parody is murderously hard to write Wolcott Gibbs an accomplished parodist if ever there was one said that it is the hardest form of creative writing there is because not only must the style of the subject be reproduced in slightly enlarged form but it must also hold the interest of people who haven t read the original It was Aldous Huxley who said that parodies are the most penetrating form of criticism and Oscar Wilde who said they are the tribute that mediocrity pays to genius which leaves us with a pretty good idea as to who had been burned and who hadn t Some of the parodies are obviously more successful than others which is a roundabout way of saying that some don t hold up if you haven t read the original material but others make glorious reading even if you ve never even heard of the author being parodied and this is the best kind I can think of Nathaniel Benchley from the introduction
