Infibulation Esther K. Hicks,2011-12-31 Infibulation is the most extreme form of female circumcision It plays an important role in the Islamic societies of northeastern Africa Until now the social significance and function of this practice has been poorly understood This has been no less true of Western commentators who have condemned the practice than of relevant governments that have attempted to curb it In Infibulation Esther K Hicks analyzes female circumcision as a cultural trait embedded in a historically traditional milieu and shows why it cannot be treated in isolation as a single issue destined for elimination In its brief history it has been recognized as a pioneering piece of research with enormous consequences As Hicks demonstrates much of the popular resistance to official efforts to eradicate infibulation has actually come from women Circumcision constitutes a rite of passage for female children It initiates them into womanhood and makes them eligible for marriage Often this is the only positive status position available to women in traditional Islamic societies Hicks points out that although female circumcision predates the introduction of Islam into the region the religious culture has successfully codified infibulation into the structural nexus of marriage family and social honor at all socioeconomic levels Female "circumcision" in Africa Bettina Shell-Duncan,Ylva Hernlund,2000 To ban excision in Meru Kenya Lynn Thomas

Khartoum at Night Marie Grace Brown,2017-08-22 In the first half of the twentieth century a pioneering generation of young women exited their homes and entered public space marking a new era for women s civic participation in northern Sudan A provocative new public presence women s civic engagement was at its core a bodily experience Amid the socio political upheavals of imperial rule female students medical workers and activists used a careful choreography of body movements and fashion to adapt to imperial mores claim opportunities for political agency and shape a new standard of modern mobile womanhood Khartoum at Night is the first English language history of these women s lives examining how their experiences of the British Empire from 1900 1956 were expressed on and through their bodies Central to this story is the tobe a popular modest form of dress that wrapped around a woman s head and body Marie Grace Brown shows how northern Sudanese women manipulated the tucks folds and social messages of the tobe to deftly negotiate the competing pulls of modernization and cultural authenticity that defined much of the imperial experience Her analysis weaves together the threads of women s education and activism medical midwifery urban life consumption and new behaviors of dress and beauty to reconstruct the worlds of politics and pleasure in which early twentieth century Sudanese women lived Female Circumcision and the Politics of Knowledge Obioma Nnaemeka,2005-07-30 Heated debates about and insurgencies against female circumcision are symptoms of a disease emanating from a mindset that produced hierarchies of humans conquered colonies and built empires The loss of colonies and empires does not in any way mitigate the ideological underpinnings of empire building and the knowledge construction that subtends it The mindset finds its articulation at points of coalescence Female circumcision provided a point of coalescence and impetus for this articulation Insisting that the hierarchy on which the imperialist project rests is not bipolar but multi layered and more complex the contributions in this volume demonstrate how imperialist discourses complicate issues of gender race and history Nnaemeka gives voice to the silenced and marginalized and creates space for them to participate in knowledge construction and theory making The authors in this volume trace the travels of imperial and colonial discourses from antecedents in anthropology travel writings and missionary discourse to modern configurations in films literature and popular culture The contributors interrogate foreign or Western modus operandi and interventions in the so called Third World and show how the resistance they generate can impede development work and undermine the true collaboration and partnership necessary to promote a transnational feminist agenda With great clarity and in simple accessible language the contributors present complex ideas and arguments which hold significant implications for transnational feminism and development American Photo - ND ,2007-05 American Photo ,1996-07 Female Genital Mutilation/Cutting Kyoko Nakamura,Kaori Miyachi,Yukio Miyawaki,Makiko Toda,2023-02-11 This open access book shows how the adoption of global justice such as eradication of female genital mutilation cutting FGM C has given rise to controversy resistance and transformation at the national regional and grass roots levels in African and Asian countries where FGM C has been practiced It provides readers with up to date information about the effects of the campaign to eradicate FGM C and the present situation of those countries to which preceding books on FGM C have scarcely referred Adopting zero tolerance as a policy of eradication WHO and other UN agencies have opposed any type of FGM C and many African countries have criminalized the practice Although the campaign is based on the human rights discourse which is shared globally the controversies concerning eradication of FGM C on the national level and the responses of communities on the local level in those countries are diverse and complicated Various actors such as NGOs government officials religious leaders medical workers and local inhabitants are embroiled and negotiate with each other concerning its eradication With this book readers are provided with an in depth analysis of the complicated controversies and responses of local communities referring to their particular historical and social backgrounds The book provides two chapters on FGM C in Asian countries where not many studies have done yet It also presents readers with a study of the arguments and responses to FGM C of African immigrants by Australian health care professionals as well as a study of male circumcision eradication campaigns which have been carried on in tandem with FGM C eradication campaigns but still not have been successful With its many elaborate case studies this book is highly recommended to readers who seek an in depth and up to date integrated overview of the FGM C studies as well as studies on the applicability of global justice to local communities This book won the 13th 2023 Japan Consortium for Area Studies JCAS Award for Social Collaboration 44th Publication Design Annual ,2009 Picture Coverage of the World Heinz Dietrich Fischer,2011 The Pulitzer Prizes for Press Photography are latecomers within the prestigious award system Established in 1942 during World War II they started with a general category called Photography covering all kinds of photographs After about a quarter century in 1968 this award
