Scratching through the surface Jorn Seubers, 2021-05-15 This volume is the third in the series Corollaria Crustumina aimed at the publication of conference proceedings doctoral theses and specialist studies concerning the Latin settlement of Crustumerium Rome and its place in central Italian protohistory It contains the dissertation that Jorn Seubers wrote and defended at the University of Groningen as part of the project The People and the State Material culture social structure and political centralisation in central Italy 800-450 BC This detailed study of Crustumerium's urban and rural settlement dynamics for which the author assembled all data from previous work while adding new landscape archaeological studies and sophisticated territorial and data analyses elaborates a new scenario on the relation between the urban core and its countryside that is reviewed within the theoretical framework of the debate on early state formation and landscape archaeological methodology

Galileo's Instruments of Credit Mario Biagioli, 2007-06-01 In six short years Galileo Galilei went from being a somewhat obscure mathematics professor running a student boarding house in Padua to a star in the court of Florence to the recipient of dangerous attention from the Inquisition for his support of Copernicanism In that brief period Galileo made a series of astronomical discoveries that reshaped the debate over the physical nature of the heavens he deeply modified the practices and status of astronomy with the introduction of the telescope and pictorial evidence proposed a radical reconfiguration of the relationship between theology and astronomy and transformed himself from university mathematician into court philosopher Galileo's Instruments of Credit proposes radical new interpretations of several key episodes of Galileo's career including his early telescopic discoveries of 1610 the dispute over sunspots and the conflict with the Holy Office over the relationship between Copernicanism and Scripture Galileo's tactics during this time shifted as rapidly as his circumstances argues Mario Biagioli and the pace of these changes forced him to respond swiftly to the opportunities and risks posed by unforeseen inventions further discoveries and the interventions of his opponents Focusing on the aspects of Galileo's scientific life that extend beyond the framework of court culture and patronage Biagioli offers a revisionist account of the different systems of exchanges communication and credibility at work in various phases of Galileo's career Galileo's Instruments of Credit will find grateful readers among scholars of science studies historical epistemology visual studies Galilean science and late Renaissance astronomy Podcasting Bible Mitch Ratcliffe, Steve
