Sustainable City XIV G. Passerini, S. Ricci, 2020-12. Urban areas result in a series of environmental challenges varying from the consumption of natural resources and the subsequent generation of waste and pollution contributing to the development of social and economic imbalances. As cities continue to grow all over the world, these problems tend to become more acute and require the development of new solutions. The challenge of planning sustainable contemporary cities lies in considering the dynamics of urban systems, exchange of energy and matter, and the function and maintenance of ordered structures directly or indirectly supplied and maintained by natural systems. The task of researchers aware of the complexity of the contemporary city is to improve the capacity to manage human activities pursuing welfare and prosperity in the urban environment. Any investigation or planning for a city ought to consider the relationships between the parts and their connections with the living world. The dynamics of its networks, flows of energy, matter, people, goods, information, and other resources are fundamental for an understanding of the evolving nature of today's cities. Large cities are probably the most complex mechanisms to manage. They represent a fertile ground for architects, engineers, city planners, social and political scientists, and other professionals able to conceive new ideas and time them according to technological advances and human requirements. Papers presented at the 14th International Conference on Urban Regeneration and Sustainability address the multidisciplinary components of urban planning, the challenges presented by the increasing size of cities, the number of resources required, and the complexity of modern society. Various aspects of the urban environment are covered, and a focus is placed on providing solutions which lead towards sustainability. «Routes touristiques et itinéraires culturels.

Entre mémoire Pascale Marcotte, Laurent Bourdeau, 2015-09-04T00:00:00-04:00. C'est fut un grand plaisir d'accueillir Québec les universitaires et les professionnels de 33 pays pour le colloque international Routes touristiques et itinéraires culturels entre mémoire et développement. Le programme proposé a permis de mettre en lumière les travaux et les réalisations des participants sur le thème commun des circuits touristiques et des lieux de mémoire. Le caractère pluridisciplinaire des communications présentées et les échanges qui en ont découlé ont été fructueux. Plusieurs regards. Cette richesse intellectuelle et scientifique nous permet de mieux comprendre le rôle des circuits touristiques dans la mise en valeur des lieux de mémoire. Non seulement le secteur de la recherche universitaire en tourisme et patrimoine bénéficiera de ces réflexions, mais également les gestionnaires de circuits et de lieux de mémoire. Soulignons que les communications ont été présentées en français et en anglais.
