Learning in Adulthood Sharan B. Merriam,Rosemary S. Caffarella,Lisa M. Baumgartner,2012-03-21 In this updated landmark book the authors have gathered the seminal work and most current thinking on adult learning into one volume Learning in Adulthood addresses a wide range of topics including Who are adult learners How do adults learn Why are adults involved in learning activities How does the social context shape the learning that adults are engaged in How does aging affect learning ability Learning Theory and Classroom Practice in the Lifelong Learning Sector Jim Gould,2012-10-10 This book supports all trainee teachers in the Lifelong Learning Sector working towards QTLS in their understanding of the key learning theories and how these can be applied to their teaching Existing teachers within the sector will also find this book a valuable resource for refreshing their knowledge and continuing their professional development Each learning theory is explored in clear and accessible language considering the implications for planning teaching assessment and classroom management Readers are encouraged to think critically about learning theories and the implications for classroom practice Points for reflection teaching and learning activities and useful summaries are included throughout This new edition has been fully revised to include a wider range of learning theories as well as annotated further reading and a glossary of useful terms Teaching Learning for Effective Instruction Michelle M. Buehl,Jane S. Vogler,2022-10-01 Given the complexity of learning an increasingly diverse student population and growing demands on today s teachers educational psychology has never been more relevant for informing instructional practice Notably an understanding of learning both what it is and how it occurs is essential for teachers to design and implement effective instruction that is responsive to the needs of their learners As part of the six part series Theory to Practice Educational Psychology for Teachers and Teaching this volume highlights what and how teacher educators should teach about learning so that developing teachers will be more effective in their instructional practice Preservice teachers represent a group of unique learners in that they are learning about learning in order to support others learning Similarly teacher educators represent a unique group of educators in that they are guiding others in not just content knowledge but also in how to teach content across a variety of domains As a means to highlight the ideas and constructs most essential for preservice teachers to learn this volume was crafted for teacher educators whether teaching educational psychology content incorporated into domain

specific courses or in a dedicated educational psychology course Each chapter offers insight into what teachers need to know about learning as well as practical applications for how to teach the content Chapters draw from a variety of theoretical perspectives about learning and identify common misconceptions that educational psychology instructors and teacher educators need to address in their work with preservice teachers

ENDORSEMENT The volume takes an expansive and inclusive view of teacher education and highlights how educational psychology can contribute to conversations about learning motivation teaching inquiry cooperation and collaboration study strategies intercultural competence assessment and student perceptions

Nancy E Perry Anita Woolfolk Hoy Teaching English to Young Arabic Speakers Irma-Kaarina Ghosn, 2022-11-03 The book explores young Arabic speaking children s English language learning Through classroom based research and learner work samples the book analyses the interplay between cultural norms and the critical role that teachers play in orchestrating classroom discourse through skillful use of available instructional materials questioning strategies and feedback to learners The author shows the potential of instructional materials to influence young learners vocabulary reading comprehension and written production as well as the way they acquire the academic literacies needed in school subjects taught in English She reviews the spread of the practice of teaching English to young and very young children and the increasing demand for English medium instruction in the Arabic speaking region with a particular focus on the negative transfer from Arabic to English spelling and grammar The book also discusses the importance of story narratives arguing they are an ideal medium for language teaching because of their rich linguistic repertoire and the strong motivational force that stories have on young language learners and their cognitive growth essential to their later academic success Taken together the research findings and classroom vignettes suggest that children s language learning happens within a complex system of interactive variables and cultural norms and expectations
