Routledge Handbook of Global Health Rights Clayton Ó Néill,Charles

Foster,Jonathan Herring,John Tingle,2021-05-30 This book examines the idea of a fundamental entitlement to health and healthcare from a human rights perspective The volume is based on a particular conceptual reasoning that balances critical thinking and pragmatism in the context of a universal right to health Thus the primary focus of the book is the relationship or contrast between rights based discourse jurisprudential arguments and real life healthcare contexts The work sets out the constraints that are imposed on a universal right to health by practical realities such as economic hardship in countries lack of appropriate governance and lack of support for the implementation of this right through appropriate resource allocation It queries the degree to which the existence of this legally enshrined right and its application in instruments such as the International Covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights ICESCR and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights UDHR can be more than an ephemeral aspiration but can actually sustain promote and instil good practice It further asks if social reality and the inequalities that present themselves therein impede the implementation of laudable human rights particularly within marginalised communities and cadres of people It deliberates on what states and global bodies do or could do in practical terms to ensure that such rights are moved beyond the aspirational and become attainable and implementable Divided into three parts the first analyses the notion of a universal inalienable right to health care from jurisprudential anthropological legal and ethical perspectives The second part considers the translation of international human rights norms into specific jurisdictional healthcare contexts With a global perspective it includes countries with very different legal economic and social contexts Finally the third part summarises the lessons learnt and provides a pathway for future action The book will be an invaluable resource for students academics and policymakers working in the areas of health law and policy and international human rights law      Atlas of Amputations and Limb Deficiencies Joseph Ivan

Burkholder,Aimee Ferraro,2018-08-29 While HIV AIDS is a global public health challenge its impact is arguably greatest in the Sub Saharan Africa SSA where new infections account for approximately 66% of the total number of HIV positive persons globally In SSA medical social and economic resources are limited thus necessitating innovative approaches to disease prevention One of the mechanisms of prevention that is most promising occurs through HIV disclosure to family members e g adult sexual partners generally and to children in particular Our emphasis in this eBook is on HIV disclosure to children because it has multiple benefits including improved adherence to antiretroviral medication treatment and understanding at an early age of the impact of sexual activity on the spread of HIV While there is a noticeable gap in research on HIV disclosure to younger children some of the general reasons for non disclosure include concerns about fear of adult partners leaving relationships and that children are too young to comprehend the severity of the situation and may tell others outside the family Thus it is critical to better understand how the HIV disclosure process happens or does not happen within HIV affected families as well as the best practices on how to disclose In this eBook we present a combination of empirical research studies and critical literature reviews that investigate the reasons for and for not disclosing HIV status within HIV affected families and provide evidence based practices that could be adopted by healthcare professionals to help HIV positive parents facilitate disclosure activities within these families This information can also be used by researchers practitioners and stakeholders who are in a position to influence policies on effective HIV disclosure practices guidelines and programs
