Kenyatta University Concept Paper:

Multicampus University Systems Ishmael I. Munene, 2014-08-27 In the face of increasing social demand and cutbacks in state budgetary support universities in African countries are now turning towards a multicampus system strategy As African governments have adopted neoliberal education policies that place premium on entrepreneurialism profit making privatization and markets as drivers of university development a reshaping of the academic work and organizational framework have taken place However little is known about the impact of this paradigm shift on access quality and governance in higher education This book fills the void in research and academic knowledge about the impact of the emerging university configurations in Africa It analyzes the paradox surrounding the performance of multicampus university systems as avenues of broadening university access but whose structural success may be qualitatively contested This book offers a refreshing examination of the African multicampus university system from both an African and global perspective It makes use of empirical data from Kenya collected during extensive fieldwork along with substantive library and documentary resources on the rest of the continents to fortify arguments and demonstrate important conclusions This allows for a comparative analysis of policies and strategies used in the establishment of campuses both within and beyond national boundaries in the continent and will be a welcome contribution to the existing repertoire on African universities

The African Virtual University Magdallen N. Juma, 2001 One of the most impressive innovations to have emerged as a means of helping to deal with crisis in higher education in Africa is the concept of a virtual university This case study relates to the pilot phase of the African Virtual University at Kenyatta University in Kenya

Women Farmers and Commercial Ventures Anita Spring, 2000 In this volume case studies reveal that farm women in Africa Asia and Latin America are rapidly becoming more than subsistence producers It explores the societal and domestic changes brought about as women move to positions as wage labourers contract growers and farm owners

Language Planning and Policy Anthony Liddicoat, 2007-01-01 While literacy has always been central to language planning work there are fewer studies which focus primarily on literacy as a language planning activity This volume investigates the complex issues and social and political pressures relating to literacy in a variety of language planning contexts around the world

Issues in Education and Technology Cream A. H. Wright, 2000 This book explores a range of issues in education and technology and provides policy guidelines and strategies for those who have to make critical decisions about the use of technology in education systems and institutions

Transforming Education and Development Policies for Pastoralist Communities in Kenya Ibrahim Oanda Ogachi, 2011 This study is a contribution towards exploring alternative but sustainable education policies for pastoralist societies and sets out to explore how pastoralist IKSs Indigenous Knowledge Systems can be integrated or used as an entry point to provide formal schooling to pastoralist communities in Kenya Pastoralists constitute the majority of the socially and economically vulnerable groups in the country Children among pastoralist communities face detrimental hardships that compromise their growth and development One of these hardships is the imposition of an education and development paradigm that is irrelevant to their existence and which compounds their problems This study therefore sought to explore how through better government policies the indigenous knowledge IK of pastoralists could be integrated into the curriculum of formal schooling Specifically the study discusses the following issues Gaps in policies for schooling provision for pastoralist groups with particular reference to the content of the curriculum and methods of delivery Aspects of pastoralist IKS that can be integrated into the context of national education policy to enrich their schooling within and General recommendations regarding the use of participatory and social engineering approaches in designing education and development policies affecting pastoralist communities in Kenya

Ngecha Carolyn P. Edwards, Beatrice Blyth Whiting, 2004-01-01 Ngecha is the monumental and intimate study of modernization and nationalization in rural Africa in the early years following Kenyan independence in 1963 as experienced by the people of Ngecha a village outside Nairobi From 1968 to 1973 Ngecha was a research site of the Child Development Research Unit a team that brought together Kenyan and non Kenyan social scientists under the leadership of John Whiting and Beatrice Blyth Whiting The study documents how families adapted to changing opportunities and conditions as their former colony became a modern nation and the key role that women played as agents of change as they became small scale cash crop farmers and entrepreneurs Mothers modified the culture of their parents to meet the evolving national economy and they participated in the shift from an agrarian to a wage economy in ways that transformed their workloads and perceptions of isolation and individualism within and between households thereby challenging traditional family based morals and obligations Their children in turn experienced evolving educational practices and achievement expectations The elders faced new situations as well as new modes of treatment Completing this valuable record of a nation in transition are the long term reassessments of the observations and conclusions of the research team and a description of Ngecha today as viewed by Kenyans who participated in the original study

Managing Heritage, Making Peace Annie E. Coombes, Lotte Hughes, Karega Munene, 2019-12-26 Kenya stands at a crossroads in its history and heritage as the nation celebrates its fiftieth anniversary of independence from Britain in 2013 At this important juncture what parts of its history including the Mau Mau uprising do citizens and state wish to remember and commemorate and what is best forgotten or occluded What does heritage mean to ordinary Kenyans and what role does it play in building nationhood and forging peace and reconciliation Focusing on the 1990s to the present Managing Heritage Making Peace is a timely exploration of the ways in which Kenyans are engaging with the past in the present including such local initiatives as the community peace museums movement local and national monuments and other notable commemorative actions The authors show how Kenya is facing a continuing crisis over nationhood heritage memory and identity which must be resolved to achieve social cohesion and peace

The Virtual University Susan D'Antoni, 2006 E learning and the virtual university are examples of the use of information and communication technology ICT as a teaching and learning approach and an organizational structure Both raise issues associated with the phenomenon of cross border education This publication explores the related ICT policy planning and management implications of several new or reorganized institutions of higher education Three background chapters describe the context the trends and challenges and the impact of cross border education Eight case studies from different regions and representing various institutional models tell the story of their development and relate what they have learned
