L'Europe et l'Amour en Poésie Jean-Pierre Lefeuve, 2013-01-15 Cette œuvre collective de traduction propose de rencontrer les plus célèbres poètes d'Europe représentatifs de sept pays Allemagne Angleterre Espagne Irlande Italie Portugal Roumanie Trente et un poètes sur plusieurs siècles représentant 60 poèmes sont ici traduits en français parfois versifiés en français et présentés par une courte biographie de l'auteur l'occasion pour les francophones de faire connaissance avec ces grandes figures de notre patrimoine européen Women's Work and Identity in Eighteenth-Century Brittany Dr Nancy Locklin, 2013-06-28 Based on a solid foundation of archival research that ranges from tax rolls to notarial records this study adds an important chapter to our understanding of women in pre industrial Europe Through a rigorous examination of primary documents peculiar to eighteenth century Brittany the author demonstrates the difficulties engendered in broad generalities about European women and makes a strong case for the necessity for historians to account for regional differences in women's experiences. In particular, Nancy Locklin makes a compelling argument for the need to incorporate a broader basis upon which women attained their identity. Indeed, Locklin rightly contends that most women in pre-industrial European societies were recognized and perhaps saw themselves through a variety of identities over the course of their lives depending on their age, familial connections, marital status, and the type of work they performed, and that often these identities overlapped. Locklin also shows the extent to which legal and ideological prescriptions painted a relatively negative picture of women's status, but that a close examination of women's participation in family, community, and commercial affairs reveals a much more complex and divergent reality.

The Moral Sex Lieselotte Steinbrügge, 1995. How was the nature of women redefined and debated during the French Enlightenment? Instead of treating the Enlightenment in the usual manner as a challenge to orthodox ideas and social conventions, Lieselotte Steinbrügge interprets it as a deviation from a position staked out in the seventeenth century: namely, the mind has no sex.

Performing Motherhood Michèle Longino Farrell, 1991
Conjunctures, 2025-01-20 Resistance, Flight, Creation Dorothea Olkowski, 2000. Thirteen women at the forefront of philosophy locate new feminist points of view within the discipline by rigorously engaging works of contemporary French philosophy. In so doing, they both transform the standard practices of the field and carve out new territory. These writers amplify the work of feminist philosophers such as Simone de Beauvoir, Luce Irigaray, and Sarah Kofman in ways that are both stylistically and substantively creative. They also appropriate for radical feminist use the works of male philosophers such as Michel Foucault, Gilles Deleuze, Maurice Merleau-Ponty, and Jean-Paul Sartre. The essays illustrate the manner in which feminist philosophers bypass traditional methodology in favor of a disciplinary freedom characterized by fluid methodologies best exemplified in Beauvoir's work and by the employment of imaginative forms including the autobiographical and the poetic. The modes of inquiry used here range variously from psychoanalysis and existentialism to deconstruction, post-structuralism, and newly resurgent phenomenology. This volume also contains a comprehensive bibliography of feminist thinkers who are enacting French philosophy in English, German, and French.

Revolution of the Right to Education A. Reis Monteiro, 2021-07-19. The author argues in his essay on the Revolution of the Right to Education that the birth of the human right to education after a millennia-long gestation has opened up a new chapter in the History of Education. Moreover, its normative, jurisprudential, doctrinal, and programmatic developments are constituents of an International Education Law that is now the highest source in the hierarchy of the contemporary normativity on education to which the Education Law in States Parties should conform. Therefore, it should be recognised and studied as a new legal and educational discipline, the source of principles of legitimacy and quality of education. This book offers an interdisciplinary and topical introduction to the International Education Law broadly defined. It explains in what ways the normative integrity of the right to education carries far-reaching revolutionary significance, corollary of the Revolution of Human Rights and the Revolution of the Rights of the Child.

Rethinking Disability Patrick Devlieger, Beatriz Miranda-Galarza, Steven E. Brown, Megan Strickfaden, 2016-06-15

The act of life is a lived experience common and unique that ties each of us to every other lived experience. The fact of disability does not alter this fundamental truth. In this edition of Rethinking Disability World Perspectives in Culture and Society we are presented with a system of thinking that considers the values of disability as a resource as a creative source of culture that moves disability out of the realm of victimized people and insurmountable barriers and provides opportunities to use the experience of disability to enter into networks that recognize strengths of differing abilities. The authors within will intrigue you, will move you, will charm you, but always will challenge your notion of sameness and difference as they confront the construct and deconstruct of disability and ableism. They present compelling arguments for viewing disABILITY through the multiple lenses of disability culture. They explore themes and issues that transcend past and origins, time and place, nuances of genetics to experiences of present and becoming and towards the future and beyond mere human yet always intrinsically connected to being human. This book is intended for all audiences who dare to confront difference and sameness within themselves and in connection with others to inspire researchers who wish to explore and examine disability across social, cultural and economic barriers. It is an invitation to push away the barriers, bring ableism inside to a place where the prosthesis is no longer the elephant in the room.

Narratives of Mothering Gill Rye, 2009. Mothers have been both idealized and demonized in Western cultures. With Simone de Beauvoir's feminist analysis of motherhood in The Second Sex as her point of departure, Rye, Germanic and Romance studies U of London, studies how French autobiographical and fictional narratives of mothering since 1990 differ from those told about them. In the context of societal changes, she explores themes including loss and trauma related to childbirth, literally and figuratively, ambivalence and guilt, power and powerlessness, and lesbian and single parenting in the works of Christine Angot, Genevieve Brisac, Marie Darrieussecq, Camille Laurens, Leila Marouane, and Marie Ndiaye among others.

French Women in Politics: Writing Power Raylene L. Ramsay, 2003-01-01. Although more women in France have entered political life than ever before, the fact remains that there are fewer women representatives in the French parliament than there were after the Second World War. In a new and original approach, the author presents an overview and analysis of the emerging body of text by or on women who have held high political office in France. The argument is that writing about women and politics has not just described or reflected women's slow but now substantial entry into political life; it has played a major part in shaping the parity debate and its outcomes. Interviews with political women such as Huguette Bouchardeau, Simone Veil, or Edith Cresson, inserted in the text, demonstrate the emergence and circulation of a new common discourse focused on the issue of whether women in politics make or should make a difference. A close reading of the various texts examined in this book and their connection to new public counter-discourses in France suggest that a re-writing of power is indeed occurring.

Children Remembered Robert Woods, 2006-01-01 Children Remembered discusses the relationship between parents and children in the past It focuses on the ways in which adults responded to the untimely deaths of children whether and how they expressed their grief The study engages with the hypothesis of parental indifference associated with the French cultural historian Philippe Ariès by analysing the changing risk of mortality since the sixteenth century and assessing its consequences It uses paintings and poems to describe feelings and emotions in ways that are not only highly original but also challenge traditional disciplinary conventions The circumstances of infant and child mortality are considered for France and England while example portraits and poems are selected from England and America While the work is firmly grounded in demography it is especially concerned with current debates in social and cultural history with the history of childhood the way pictorial images can be read and the use as historical evidence to which literature may be put This is a wide ranging and ambitious multi disciplinary study that will add significantly to our understanding of demographic structures the ways in which they have conditioned attitudes and behaviour in the past
