Kmet, 2017-01-06 The idea that developing all sectors of the educational palette is influential for socio economic development was adopted later in Sub Saharan Africa than in other world regions Most efforts went primarily into developing the first stages of education and rightly so for many children could not access education at all Today all African governments recognize the importance of higher education and increasingly invest in it They are facing two major interlinked challenges rapid population growth and decline in the quality of education Indeed despite fertility decline the region has been confronted with substantial population growth which will continue for many decades as such there is a necessity to increase investment in education This in a situation of limited resources has been at the expense of the quality and the burgeoning of
