

Research Paper

Researching and expressing other's points of view on a topic, as well as incorporating your insights and ideas

Long in length, at least 8 pages

Requires comprehensive understanding of a topic by researching it thoroughly

Familiarity required with research writings associated with a chosen topic

Helps build writers knowledge of a topic

The writer compares various pieces of information on a topic and then presents a cumulative overview of the findings

Different flavors of Research Papers Include but are not limited to: compare and contrast, argumentative, analytical, cause and effect, and subject-bases. The last is the most common. A subject or topic is chosen and then that topic is researched and written about.

After researching a topic thoroughly, the writer compiles and evaluates the information. The writer then restructures and presents the topic from their point of view, incorporating citations from compiled research to back up their analysis.

Essay

Usually your point of view

Short in length with an average of 5 paragraphs

Does not necessarily require a comprehensive understanding of a particular topic

Familiarity may or may not be required with other research or writing

Helps build writers writing skills

The writer hones their writing skills by presenting their thoughts in a logical and coherent manner

Different flavors of Essays include but are not limited to: academic, narrative, and philosophical. The academic essay is common at the collegiate level. This type of essay commonly includes a literature review. The literature review is an evaluation of information that is read. It should describe, summarize, evaluate and clarify the chosen piece.

In an essay the writer puts their thoughts on paper. Thought is given to the purpose of the writing and what type of essay it is. The perspective audience is also considered. The writing should be well-organized, coherent and supported by appropriate facts and examples.

Succeeding from the Margins of Canadian Society Francis Adu-Febiri,Everett Ofori,2009-11-08 It is possible to overcome barriers to minority success in Canada The stance of this book is that new immigrants refugees and international students do not have to settle for underachievement despite the cultural and structural disadvantages they face in Canada The fact is the unequal social structure of Canada has some cracks and many minorities have used strategic resources to open up these cracks and achieved tremendous upward social mobility in Canadian society from the margins These documented minority successes in Canada in the face of systemic marginalization provide lessons and hope for new immigrants refugees and international students The economic political social and cultural problems that minorities encounter in Canadian institutions organizations communities and from individuals overwhelm and break many of them However some minorities break records in the face of the frustrations they encounter What accounts for the success of the latter group of immigrants refugees and international students in Canada Individual efforts and personal ambitions are not enough to explain these success stories This book highlights strategies and support systems that facilitate minority strategic connections with Canadian mainstream institutions organizations and individuals to win from the margins of society Although the book does not get into the theories of inequality equity and diversity it does acknowledge the structural and cultural barriers to minority success in Canada That is it does not blame individual minorities for not making it in Canada Rather it points to strategic resources that new immigrants refugees and international students can use to help them overcome some of the barriers to success in Canada
