Ruiz-Garrido, Juan Carlos Palmer, Inmaculada Fortanet-Gómez, 2010 English in academic and professional settings has received great attention over the last 50 years as its use has become a key asset for anyone interested in improving his/her chances of communicating internationally. However, it still offers rich opportunities for teachers and researchers working on English in specific settings. The aim of English for Professional and Academic Purposes is to offer an overview of several topics within the field of discourse analysis applied to English in academic and professional domains. The book compiles contributions from different origins ranging from Japan to the USA and several European countries and covers English as a native second foreign and international language. It also deals with various specialities including academic writing, business discourse or English for medicine, nursing, maritime industry and science and engineering. This volume is divided into three sections: Discourse Analysis of English for Academic Purposes, Professional English and EPAP Pedagogy, since it was conceived as a contribution to the research on how English is analysed as both the discourse of and for effective communication in academic and professional settings and how it can be applied to teaching. This manuscript offers some fresh insights for those involved or interested in this field of expertise in an attempt to shed some light on its latest innovations.

The Elementary English Review, 1924 Innovation in English Language Teaching David Hall, Ann Hewings, 2013-10-18 This reader provides both theoretical perspectives and practical tools for analysing and understanding how ELT classroom curricula can be analysed, developed and evaluated. The commissioned and classic texts place curriculum change in a philosophical framework and also explore the political and institutional considerations. A series of case studies are provided to highlight both the role of the teacher in curriculum innovation and various processes of planning and implementation. The final section deals with evaluating curriculum and syllabus change. A Reference Guide for English Studies Michael J. Marcuse, 1990-01-01 This ambitious undertaking is designed to acquaint students, teachers and researchers with reference sources in any branch of English studies which Marcuse defines as all those subjects and lines of critical and scholarly inquiry presently pursued by members of university departments of English language and literature. Within each of 24 major sections, Marcuse lists and annotates bibliographies, guides, reviews of research, encyclopedias, dictionaries, journals and reference histories. The annotations and various indexes are models of clarity and usefulness and cross references are liberally supplied where appropriate. Although cost-conscious librarians will probably consider the several other excellent literary bibliographies in print such as James L. Harner's Literary Research Guide Modern Language Assn of America 1989, larger academic libraries will want Marcuse's volume. Jack Bales, Mary Washington Coll Lib
