The Institution of Engineers of Kenya Conference on Engineer in Liberalized Market ,2007 Trails in Academic and Administrative Leadership in Kenya Michieka, Ratemo Waya,2017-05-03 Scholars especially those interested in understanding how leadership has inhibited academic freedom and hindered effectiveness of institutions of higher learning have for long been engaged by the very important manner in which governance and leadership of higher education institutions in Africa is constituted and managed The fact that there has been a dearth of work based on the experiences of those who have served as university leaders has created a major gap Questions remain on how leaders of higher education institutions are identified how they are prepared the personal predispositions that individuals bring to the exercise of such positions and their personal experiences regarding what energizes or inhibits the performance of their work. Until recently presidents in most African countries served as chancellors of public universities. Identification of those who served as university leaders was largely a political process. But much has changed with most countries establishing oversight bodies and the overall governance of higher education institutions divorced from the day to day political processes. Trails in Academic and Administrative Leadership in Kenya provides a personal account of the experiences in higher education leadership from an individual whose tenure in leadership straddled the two eras. In this book Prof Michieka provides an account of how his early education prepared him for roles in academic and institutional leadership in Kenya. The author shares his experiences on the trails he had to navigate as an academic, a vice chancellor, and a chairperson of university council at a time when universities in Kenya were transiting from extreme government administrative control to a greater degree of operational autonomy. Readers will find in this work thought provoking insights on how leaders of higher education institutions in Kenya have had to balance between demands of the political system and the need to safeguard academic traditions in the everyday management of the institutions.

Marketing Management and Strategy George

Tesar, 2013-02-11. This book gives readers an understanding of the factors that shape the marketing decisions of managers who operate in African economies. Dare to Invent the Future Clapperton Chakanetsa Mavhunga, 2023-11-21

A rallying manifesto for the innovative problem solving we need to build a better, more verdant and sustainable planetary existence. Academics are letting Africa down. With all that we know, what do we have to show for it? Whose lives have been changed for the better by it? What have we done for and with our communities lately? In this provocative book, the first in a trilogy, Clapperton Chakanetsa Mavhunga argues that our critical thinkers must become actual thinker-doers. Taking its title from one of Thomas Sankara's most inspirational speeches, Dare to Invent the Future looks for moments in Africa's story where precedents of critical thought and knowledge in service of problem solving are evident to inspire readers to dare to invent such a knowledge system. Mavhunga revisits insights from Edward Wilmot Blyden, Booker T. Washington, Aimé Césaire, Frantz Fanon, Amílcar Cabral, Julius Nyerere, and Thomas Sankara to illustrate how the academic disciplines have been and could be deployed in the service of and through problem solving, building on what people are doing and know. At its core, he writes, knowledge in the service of and through problem solving derives from reading the past for new questions, doing due diligence in the present, and contriving an anticipatory approach toward the future. Questioning the fundamental premises of Western and white knowledge production especially regarding science and technology Mavhunga proposes in this book refreshingly new approaches to thinking doing that stem from African realities in the hopes of inspiring a generation that will run toward not away from problems to solve them Handbook of Thermoset Plastics Hanna Dodiuk,2021-10-25 Handbook of Thermoset Plastics Fourth Edition provides complete coverage of the chemical processes manufacturing techniques and design properties of each polymer along with its applications This new edition has been expanded to include the latest developments in the field with new chapters on radiation curing biological adhesives vitrimers and 3D printing This detailed handbook considers the practical implications of using thermoset plastics and the relationships between processing properties and applications as well as analyzing the strengths and weakness of different methods and applications The aim of the book is to help the reader to make the right decision and take the correct action on the basis of informed analysis avoiding the pitfalls the authors experience has uncovered In industry the book supports engineers scientists manufacturers and R D professionals working with plastics The information included will also be of interest to researchers and advanced students in plastics engineering polymer chemistry adhesives and coatings Offers a systematic approach guiding the reader through chemistry processing methods properties and applications of thermosetting polymers Includes thorough updates that discuss current practice and the new developments on biopolymers nanotechnology 3D printing radiation curing and biological adhesives Uses case studies to demonstrate how particular properties make different polymers suitable for different applications Covers end use and safety considerations Nairobi Hip Hop Flow RaShelle R. Applying User-Centered Interface Design Methods to Improve the Usability of an Electronic Prescription System Lucy Waruguru Mburu, 2013-05-05 Despite the fact the human computer interface is the main facilitator of communication between the user and the computer system its importance has been highly disregarded by system designers This has resulted in many undesirable consequences and in prescription and other healthcare systems these problems are aggravated by the fact that not only are the users inconvenienced but there are potential threats to the well being of the patients under care as well Many healthcare systems are often designed without considering the potential users of these systems Consequently the systems are created ad hoc there is general dissatisfaction and eventually most of these systems are abandoned This wastes human as well as economic resources while creating a stigma among the users towards the use of automated systems In order to salvage one such system different methods from the areas of usability engineering human computer interaction psychology and cognitive science are considered to systematically derive a framework to guide the redesign process The research undertaken in this project highlights the role and significance of the human computer interface and puts an emphasis on the importance of user involvement in interface design in order to effectively satisfy their needs Principles and guidelines for interface design are reviewed in order to obtain the guidance necessary for successful redesign The research also reviews the different techniques involved in the design of user centered interfaces and filters these to a reasonable set to be applied Results from the research review as well as from visits conducted to other healthcare facilities in Nairobi are also used to pinpoint best practices for designing usable prescription system interfaces Following the gathering of this information a series of evaluations are conducted on the abandoned system to identify the flaws that could have caused its failure Feedback from these evaluations user suggestions and recommendations as well as best practices are used to iteratively develop an improved prototype system The redesigned system presents a successfully applied example of the user centered design framework A comparison between the original and redesigned system interfaces shows improvements in information quality interface quality and system usability
