The International Handbook of Educational Research in the Asia-Pacific Region J.P. Keeves, Ryo Watanabe, 2013-11-11 The aim of the Handbook is to present readily accessible but scholarly sources of information about educational research in the Asia Pacific region The scale and scope of the Handbook is such that the articles included in it provide substantive contributions to knowledge and understanding of education in the Asia region In so doing the articles present the problems and issues facing education in the region and the findings of research conducted within the region that contribute to the resolution of these problems and issues Moreover since new problems and issues are constantly arising the articles in the Handbook also indicate the likely directions of future developments The different articles within the Handbook seek to conceptualize the problems in each specific content area under review provide an integration of the research conducted within that area the theoretical basis of the research the practical implications of the research and the contribution of the research towards the resolution of the problems identified Thus the articles do not involve the reporting of newly conducted research but rather require a synthesis of the research undertaken in a particular area with reference to the research methods employed and the theoretical frameworks on which the research is based In general the articles do not advocate a single point of view but rather present alternative points of view and comment on the debate and disagreements associated with the conduct and findings of the research Furthermore it should be noted that the Handbook is not concerned with research methodology and only considers the methods employed in inquiry in so far as the particular methods of research contribute to the effective investigation of problems and issues that have arisen in the conduct and provision of education at different levels within the region

Hegemony and the Politics of Labour Simon Tunderman,2023-12-01 Hegemony and the Politics of Labour takes up a question that goes to the heart of the debate about politics capitalism and discourse how can labour relations and value production be understood as discursive processes When they launched their poststructuralist discourse theory almost 40 years ago Ernesto Laclau and Chantal Mouffe positioned the contingency of discourse and politics in sharp contrast to the deterministic tendencies of the Marxist critique of capitalism Moving beyond Marxism as an essentialist other discourse theory has since remained notoriously silent on questions related to the core workings of capitalism This book is the first to bring the central categories of discourse theory into conversation with Marx's critique of political economy Reintegrating both traditions it argues that the social relations of labour in capitalism emerge as a hegemonic formation Its contribution is to extend the reach of discourse theory to the capitalist economy exploring how a post Marxist account of labour value and class connects to the contingent politics of populism Hegemony and the Politics of Labour is an original and important contribution to the fields of discourse theory and critique of political economy
