New York Times Book Review From the bestselling authors of Soonish a brilliant and hilarious off world investigation into space settlement

EARTH IS NOT WELL The promise of starting life anew somewhere far far away no climate change no war no doomscrolling beckons and settling the stars nally seems within our grasp Or is it

Critically acclaimed bestselling authors Kelly and Zach Weinersmith set out to write the essential guide to a glorious future of space settlements but after years of research they aren't so sure it's a good idea

Space technologies and space businesses are progressing fast but we lack the knowledge needed to have space kids build space farms and create space nations in a way that doesn't spark conflict back home

In a world hurtling toward human expansion into space A City on Mars investigates whether the dream of new worlds won't create nightmares both for settlers and the people they leave behind

In the process the Weinersmiths answer every question about space you've ever wondered about and many you've never considered

Can you make babies in space Should corporations govern space settlements What about space war Are we headed for a housing crisis on the Moon's Peaks of Eternal Light and what happens if you're left in the Craters of Eternal Darkness Why do astronauts love taco sauce Speaking of meals what's the legal status of space cannibalism

With deep expertise a winning sense of humor and art from the beloved creator of Saturday Morning Breakfast Cereal the Weinersmiths investigate perhaps the biggest questions humanity will ever ask itself whether and how to become

multiplanetary Get in we re going to Mars Locomotive Engineering ,1896 English Mechanic and World of Science ,1871 Psychology and Human Performance in Space Programs Lauren Blackwell Landon,Kelley J. Slack,Eduardo Salas,2020-10-08 In Psychology and Human Performance in Space Programs Extreme Application operations experts from multiple space agencies with support from spaceflight researchers outline existing and proposed operations for selecting training and supporting space crews who currently live and work on the International Space Station and who are preparing for future missions to the moon and Mars Highlighting applied psychology in spaceflight whilst acknowledging real world complexities that occur when integrating across an international multi agency collective this volume provides both historical and current perspectives toward spaceflight operations with expert contributions from NASA and international partners such as the Japanese Space Agency Russian space researchers and the Canadian Space Agency Helpfully outlining the progress that has been made so far this book includes topics such as the selection and hiring of astronauts the process of training a crew for a mission to Mars and workload and mission planning Discussing operational psychology in space and on the ground this book looks to the future of research and operational needs for future missions to Mars with an essay from astronaut Dr Don Pettit on his experiences in space and how the Mars mission will challenge us in new ways This second of two volumes will be of interest to professionals in the field of human factors and psychology in extreme environments
