growth with international analysts predicting Myanmar's economy to be worth up to 200bn by 2030. With elections set to take place in late 2015 the world is eagerly watching to see how things will unfold. After spending decades as one of the most isolated and least developed countries in Asia Myanmar is emerging as one of the world's fastest growing economies. Agriculture, manufacturing and mining are some of Myanmar's top contributors to GDP which was forecast to reach 8.5% in FY2014/15 and FY2015/16. As the country continues to reintegrate with the global economy continued reforms as well as the opening of more economic sectors to foreign investors will help unlock the country's potential.

Sustainable Development and Local Government in South Korea Youngah Guahk, 2025-06-20. This book addresses one of the key issues of our time: the process of sustainable transition in modern industrial societies by looking at the dynamics associated with this objective at the decentralised local level in South Korea. The creation of eco cities is a crucial aspect in the ongoing urbanisation of East Asia and this book investigates specific examples of Korean local governments embarking on the path towards sustainable urban development and assesses their achievements. Making use of a wide range of sources and data collection methods the book studies two diverse cases in great depth: Suwon City and Jeju Province. By systematically comparing the aims, strategies and decision making processes in these two examples the book illuminates the relative roles played by local leaders, central government, civil society representatives and even international organisations. Highlighting the challenges, driving forces and limitations impacting sustainable transition at the local level this book will be a valuable resource to students and scholars of Korean politics, decentralisation, urban governance, sustainable development and city planning.

OECD Reviews of Vocational Education and Training: Vocational Education and Training in Thailand OECD, 2021-07-23. One of a series of studies on vocational education and training this review assesses vocational education and training (VET) in Thailand and provides policy recommendations. VET has the potential to provide relevant education and training opportunities to young people and adults in Thailand especially as the demand for technical skills is high. This can be achieved by building on the strengths of the system including a strong postsecondary vocational system and a small but dynamic dual system. However it remains an unattractive option for many students in Thailand because of a poor image among students and parents, quality issues, a hard to navigate system and limited progression pathways. Additional efforts are therefore needed to align the mix of provision with the needs of the Thai labour market. This review provides recommendations on how to improve access to programmes, reduce inequalities in access to high quality institutions and programmes, make better use of skills intelligence to inform education and training policies and engage employers in the design and delivery of vocational education and training including work based learning.
