EEOC Compliance Manual United States. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 1987 The Bodies of Women Rosalyn Diprose, 2005-08-04 What sort of ethics do we need Rosalyn Diprose argues that the usual approaches to ethics both perpetuate and remain blind to the mechanisms of the subordination of women In Bodies of Women Ethics Embodiment and Sexual Differences she claims that injustice against women is found in the social discourses and practices which both evaluate and constitute their modes of embodiment as improper in relation to men Diprose critically analyses the attempts in both feminist and non feminist ethics to recognise the role of sexual difference and the biomedical discourses whose descriptions mask a constitution and regulation of the body Her critiques draw on insights from Anglophone feminist theory and continental philosophy and are supported by critical readings of Irigaray Cornell and Fraser Hegel Nietzsche Merleau Ponty Derrida and Foucault What emerges is a new ethics of sexual difference which not only better locates the mechanisms of discrimination but also provides the means to subvert them

Regulating Girls and Women Joan Sangster, 2001-12-15 For people living in Ontario as throughout Canada the period from 1920 to 1960 was one of great change and turmoil the roaring twenties the Great Depression the upheaval of war and the economic boom of the postwar years One constant in society over those years however was the differential treatment that females and males received before the law especially in regard to family matters and sexuality A patriarchal justice system increasingly under the influence of expert opinion from social workers psychologists psychiatrists and other medial doctors openly espoused a sexual double standard and sought to regulate the behaviour of girls and women for their own good Indeed women in physically abusive relationships were at times advised by judges probation officers and social workers to go home and sleep with your husband on the assumption that keeping him sexually sated would end the violence In this fascinating study of sexuality family and the law historian Joan Sangster focuses on key issues that drew women into the courts as plaintiffs and defendants incest and sexual abuse wife assault prostitution female delinquency and the unique colonization of the soul that Aboriginal women had to endure before the law As Sangster writes While history does not offer pat solutions to present dilemmas it may stimulate some sobering second thoughts on current debates by dissecting the changing definitions of criminality and the process by which law constituted gender race and class relations by mounting a critique of past reform efforts and importantly by suggesting how the law affected the lives of girls and women who came into conflict with it
