Driving Past Geoff Quayle, 2015-09-01 Its almost impossible to believe that on an average weekend eight people died in road accidents in Victoria in the late 1960s with a low of four and a high of an incredible sixteen Geoff Quayle joined Commonwealth Department of Shipping and Transport in 1967 determined to play a role in doing something about these stark statistics This memoir is an insiders account of the organised activity that it took to promote meaningful traffic safety reforms in Australia weaving personal anecdotes into the historical account The first steps taken in Australia were to enact strict drink driving laws and then make seat belt wearing compulsory However he cautions against concentrating on ever more restrictive legislative measures to reduce the death toll on the roads that is barely as third of what it was in 1970 Rather he sees a continuing need to adapt the road and traffic environment to the capabilities limitations and needs of people rather than the other way around Quayle argues that the automated enforcement of speed limits that bear little relationship to the risk of crashing on the safest roads whilst failing to guide drivers as to what is a safe speed elsewhere only compounds the problem As he recalls a career devoted to traffic safety he reflects on what still needs to be done today noting that while Australia has come a long way it would be a dreadful mistake to revisit the blind alleys of the past Municipal Journal and Engineer, 1911 Pictures of the City of Washington in the Past Samuel Clagett Busey, 1898 George Broomhall's Corn Trade News, 1908 SBI & IBPS Bank Clerk 38 Past (2009-18) Solved Papers 3rd Edition Disha
