City Suburbs Alan Mace, 2013-03-05 The majority of the world s population is now urban and for most this will mean a life lived in the suburbs City Suburbs considers contemporary Anglo American suburbia drawing on research in outer London it looks at life on the edge of a world city from the perspective of residents Interpreted through Bourdieu s theory of practice it argues that the contemporary suburban life is one where place and participation are in combination strong determinants of the suburban experience From this perspective suburbia is better seen as a process an on going practice of the suburban which is influenced but not determined by the history of suburban development How residents engage with the city and the legacy of particular places combine powerfully to produce very different experiences across outer London In some cases suburban residents are able to combine the benefits of the city and their residential location to their advantage but in marginal middle class areas the relationship with the city is more circumspect as the city represents more threat than opportunity The importance of this relational experience with the city informs a call to integrate more fully the suburbs into studies of the city

The Discursive Construction of Place in the Digital Age Alejandro Parini, Francisco Yus, 2023-06-30 This collection calls for greater attention to the need for a clearer understanding of the role of discourse in the process of placemaking in the digital age and the increasing hybridisation of physical and virtual worlds The volume outlines a new conceptualisation of place in the time of smartphones whose technological and social affordances evoke placemaking as a collaborative endeavour which allows users to create and maintain a sense of community around place as shareable or collective experience Taken together the chapters argue for a greater emphasis on the ways in which users employ discourse to manage this physical virtual interface in digital interactions and in turn produce remixed cultural practices that draw on diverse digital semiotic resources and reflect their everyday experiences of place and location The book explores a wide range of topics and contexts which embody these dynamics including livestreaming platforms mourning in the digital age e service encounters and Internet forums While the overlay of physical and virtual information on location based media is not a new phenomenon this volume argues that in the face of its increasing pervasiveness we can better understand its unfolding and future directions for research by accounting for the significance of place in today s interactions This book will be of interest to students and scholars in discourse analysis digital communication pragmatics and media studies
