Propaganda and Ideology in the Russian-Ukrainian War Jon Roozenbeek, 2024-05-31 Russia's invasion of Ukraine is one of the most important conflicts of the twenty first century. With the start of military hostilities in 2014 also came an onslaught of propaganda to both convince and confuse audiences worldwide about the war's historical and ideological underpinnings. Based on extensive research drawing on tens of thousands of news articles and hundreds of pages of legal documents and internal correspondence, this book offers the first comprehensive analysis of the role of propaganda, ideology, and identity in the Russian-Ukrainian war. It argues that despite Russia's efforts to set up a media machine at home and abroad with eight years of propaganda legitimising Russia's presence in eastern Ukraine, Russia never managed to vocalise a convincing alternative to Ukrainian nationhood. Instead, Russian propaganda backfired: Ukraine is now more united than ever before. Minerals Yearbook Mines

Cash Not Care Mo Stewart, 2016-09-14 Mo Stewart is a former healthcare professional, a disabled female veteran, and an independent researcher. This book is the culmination of six years of self-funded research, and the evidence exposes the influence of corporate America since 1992, with the future welfare reforms of the UK. The impact of the enforced austerity measures of the UK government is identified as they negatively affect the welfare and the survival of the chronically sick and disabled population in receipt of welfare benefits when unfit to work. The research has informed welfare reform debates in the House of Lords and the House of Commons since 2011 and contributed to the evidence used by the United Nations to investigate the UK government for breaches of the Human Rights of sick and disabled people. Endorsed by the disabled community and by academics, the research has identified the adoption of lethal social policies copied from American social security policies and linked to the death of thousands of the most vulnerable of all as the UK welfare state is systematically demolished as all planned over thirty years ago by a previous Conservative government

Civil War?

Interstate War? Hybrid War? Jakob Hauter, 2021-04-20 This volume of collected papers takes stock of what has become known about the war in eastern Ukraine's Donetsk Basin Donbas between April 2014 and mid 2020. It provides an introduction to the conflict and illustrates the key point of contention in the academic debate surrounding it: the question whether this war is primarily an internal Ukrainian phenomenon or the result of a covert Russian invasion. The contributions by recognized specialists from Ukraine, Russia, Germany and Japan offer multifaceted views and insights into this long-lasting conflict for both expert readers and those who are new to the topic. The volume's contributors are Tymofii Brik, Jakob Hauter, Sanshiro Hosaka, Yuriy Matsiyevsky, Nikolay Mitrokhin, Maximilian Kranich and Ulrich Schneckenner.

Neoliberalism, Postmodernity, and the Contemporary Memorial-Building Boom Nicola Clewer, 2022-06-06 The book develops a new approach to and a distinct reading of the contemporary memorial building boom which began in the 1980s. Locating the origins of this boom in the crises associated with postmodernity and the rise of neoliberalism, it analyses the complex interplay between neoliberalism, postmodernism and nationalism in some of the most well-known memorials and memorial museums to have emerged in the USA and Germany over the last four decades. Rather than offering a survey of contemporary memorials, it traces a specific trajectory and certainly not the only one ripe for analysis from the postmodern memorials of the 1980s to the increasingly monumental and authoritative memorials and memorial museums being constructed today. Developing a distinct interdisciplinary approach, the book offers a critical analysis of the relationship between the memorials from the visitor experience they're intended to offer and the understanding of history and our relation to it which underpins their philosophical, ethical and political stance. Questioning the notion that contemporary memorials are ambiguous, non-ideological and non-nationalistic, the book argues that they are engaged in rearticulating nationalism in line with the contradictory demands of the current conjuncture. As well as critically analysing the political function of national memorials, the book is equally concerned with interrogating the aesthetic means they employ with a specific focus on the way in which they mobilise the power of the sublime to generate particular affective responses. The book argues that contemporary national memorials reflect one of the most significant convergences between postmodern thought and neoliberal ideology: both project a permanent present, urging us to recreate ourselves in the light of existing conditions for there is no alternative.

Self-Determination in the early 21st Century Uriel Abulof, Karl Cordell, 2018-02-02 In a world in which change is constant, the principle of self-determination is important. Through collective acts of self-determination, nations exercise the right to govern themselves. At present, the nation-state system with which we are familiar faces several challenges. In Western Europe, sub-state nationalism is on the rise. In the Middle East and North Africa, the state system bequeathed by former colonial powers faces increasing threats from pan-Islamist movements. Overall, the established order faces unprecedented uncertainties The scholars who have contributed to this volume assess the merits limitations and trajectories of self determination in the twenty first century pointing to the paradoxes and anomalies that are encompassed by what at first sight is a simple and seductive concept From the perspective of the twenty first century and informed by a wealth of experience each of the contributors to this volume offers some valuable and intriguing observations on the future of self determination and the movements its call engenders This book was published as a special issue of Ethnopolitics Urban Geopolitics Jonathan Rokem, Camillo Boano, 2017-08-21 In the last decade a new wave of urban research has emerged putting comparative perspectives back on the urban studies agenda However this research is frequently based on similar case studies on a few selected cities in America and Europe and all too often focus on the abstract city level with marginal attention given to particular local contexts Moving away from loosely defined urban theories and contexts this book argues it is time to start learning from and compare across different contested cities It questions the long standing Euro centric academic knowledge production that is prevalent in urban studies and planning research This book brings together a diverse range of international case studies from Latin America South and South East Asia Eastern Europe Africa and the Middle East to offer an in depth understanding of the worldwide contested nature of cities in a wide range of local contexts It suggests an urban ontology that moves beyond the urban West and North as well as adding a comparative relational understanding of the contested nature that Southern cities are developing This timely contribution is essential reading for those working in the fields of human geography urban studies planning politics area studies and sociology Cyberwarfare: Information Operations in a Connected World Mike Chapple, David Seidl, 2021-10-11 Cyberwarfare Information Operations in a Connected World puts students on the real world battlefield of cyberspace It reviews the role that cyberwarfare plays in modern military operations operations in which it has become almost impossible to separate cyberwarfare from traditional warfare former friends Each chapter considers a different site where care can produce interpersonal peace or its antipode everyday war Bridging the fields of political geography international relations peace and conflict studies and anthropology Everyday War considers where peace can be cultivated at an everyday level Building a Nation at War J. Megan Greene, 2023-11-20 Building a Nation at War argues that the Chinese Nationalist government's retreat inland during the Sino Japanese War 1937-1945 its consequent need for inland resources and its participation in new scientific and technical relationships with the United States led to fundamental changes in how the Nationalists engaged with science and technology as tools to promote development The war catalyzed an emphasis on applied sciences comprehensive economic planning and development of scientific and technical human resources all of which served the Nationalists immediate and long term goals It created an opportunity for the Nationalists to extend control over inland China and over education and industry It also provided opportunities for China to mobilize transnational networks of Chinese Americans Chinese in America and the American government and businesses These groups provided technical advice ran training programs and helped the Nationalists acquire manufactured goods and tools J. Megan Greene shows how the Nationalists worked these programs to their advantage even in situations where their American counterparts clearly had the upper hand Finally this book shows how although American advisers and diplomats criticized China for harboring resources rather than putting them into winning the war against Japan U.S. industrial consultants were also strongly motivated by postwar goals Children of Migrants in China Kam Wing Chan, Yuan Ren, 2020-11-25 Children are precious in China especially as its population ages rapidly The unprecedented fast urbanization and massive internal migration have profoundly changed almost every aspect of society They have impacted the livelihood of children of migrants most Because of the hukou system and related policies China's internal migrants face major obstacles to assimilate into cities But more than that as this book shows these policies have also torn families apart on a scale unseen heretofore More than 100 million children grow up in unstable families and the great majority have suffered from prolonged separation from their parents in the migratory upheaval This book provides an updated analysis of this mega and painful process unfolding at various geographical scales The chapters revolve around the central notion of family togetherness or the lack thereof The book measures dissects and analyses the impacts of migration on children and recommends policies to address major problems from a variety of disciplinary perspectives employing different methodologies The problems faced by the children of migrants remain enormous and it is a looming huge crisis in the making If unaddressed those problems can damage a whole generation with serious consequences The chapters in this book were first published in Eurasian Geography and Economics Rubble Music Abby Anderton, 2019-07-23 As the seat of Hitler's government Berlin was the most frequently targeted city in Germany for Allied bombing campaigns during World War II Air raids shelled celebrated monuments left homes uninhabitable and reduced much of the city to nothing but rubble After the war's end this apocalyptic landscape captured the imagination of artists filmmakers and writers who used the ruins to engage with themes of alienation disillusionment and moral ambiguity In Rubble Music Abby Anderton explores the classical music culture of postwar Berlin analyzing archival documents period sources and musical scores to identify the sound of civilian suffering after urban catastrophe Anderton reveals how rubble functioned as a literal figurative psychological and sonic element by examining the resonances of trauma heard in the German musical repertoire after 1945 With detailed explorations of reconstituted orchestral ensembles opera companies and radio stations as well as analyses of performances and compositions that were beyond the reach of the Allied occupiers Anderton demonstrates how German musicians worked through cleared away or built over the debris and devastation of the war

The European Union and the Black Sea Sinem Akgul Acikmese, Dimitrios Triantaphyllou, 2017-10-02 The idea for this book is derived from the scantiness of academic references on the European Union's policies towards the Black Sea relative to this region's officially stated significance for the EU Even though the EU plays a vital role in Black Sea political agendas the EU's cooperation with the region is not extensively covered by academic discussions and literature This is mostly due to the fact that the EU's focus on foreign affairs is mainly associated with the Balkans as part the current and potential expansion and the Middle East as a direct consequence of the upheaval of the Arab Spring The Black Sea region is crucially important for the EU because of the opportunities and challenges that the region presents both politically and socio economically Contributions to this book mostly focus on specific issues of EU Black Sea cooperation from conflict to the environment to democracy and how these particular relationships are perceived within the region as well as through the lenses of stakeholders such as Russia Turkey and the USA Overall the collection focuses on projecting a more efficient role and a holistic strategy for the EU in its approach towards the Black Sea region testifying to the need for a strong EU presence For this reason the Black Sea area remains the neighbourhood too close to yet still far from the European Union This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Balkan and Near Eastern Studies
