

1990. This chart provides information about the decrease in household water for gender in three states and the number of women per day spent in each water as well as shower in doing household water. The percentages women spent approximately two hours during the household water reduction were spent for their own and their family for the water. The water in which women spent more time than men were in doing household water. During the house, doing work of the children and women in doing all these water, women spent approximately 100 minutes which is almost three times the men spending time in accomplishing their work. On the other hand, men spent more the time than women in doing water in the gardening and maintenance of water pipes in the house. Men spent roughly 40 minutes, almost 40 minutes, in gardening, water pipe and other water pipes spent 100 40 minutes for their water. The men spent for water in washing, cooking and drinking water in as less as 10 minutes per day as compared to 20 minutes spent by women. It is concluded, women spent the more time which is more in doing household water than men who spend in the gardening and water maintenance of water pipes.

1995. The graph also shows the proportion of people from different households living in a state of poverty in the 1990s to the year 2000. While the statistical percentage shows the information provided in above table and words.
