Examples Of Literary Journalism:

Literary Journalism Norman Sims, Mark Kramer, 1995-05-23 Some of the best and most original prose in America today is being written by literary journalists. Memoirs and personal essays, profiles, science and nature reportage, travel writing: literary journalists are working in all of these forms with artful styles and fresh approaches. In Literary Journalism, editors Norman Sims and Mark Kramer have collected the finest examples of literary journalism from both the masters of the genre who have been working for decades and the new voices freshly arrived on the national scene. The fifteen essays gathered here include John McPhee's account of the battle between army engineers and the lower Mississippi River; Susan Orlean's brilliant portrait of the private imaginative world of a ten-year-old boy; Tracy Kidder's moving description of life in a nursing home; Ted Conover's wild journey in an African truck convoy while investigating the spread of AIDS; Richard Preston's bright piece about two shy Russian mathematicians who live in Manhattan and search for order in a random universe; Joseph Mitchell's classic essay on the rivermen of Edgewater, New Jersey. And nine more fascinating pieces of the nation's best new writing. In the last decade, this unique form of writing has grown exuberantly, and now in Literary Journalism we celebrate fifteen of our most dazzling writers as they work with great vitality and astonishing variety.

True Stories Norman Sims, Medill School of Journalism, 2007 Journalism in the twentieth century was marked by the rise of literary journalism. Sims traces more than a century of its history, examining the cultural connections, competing journalistic schools of thought, and innovative writers that have given literary journalism its power. Seminal examples of the genre provide ample context and background for the study of this style of journalism.
