Reflective Playwork Jacky Kilvington, Ali Wood, 2010-02-10 Reflective Playwork provides an introduction to playwork values principles and practice for all who work with children It recognizes that play is a need for all and seeks to encourage the provision of time and space for all children to freely enjoy its benefits In a world where we are ever seeking to protect our children and to encourage their educational progress it is often overlooked that the need for play is as important as the need for food and sleep Play deprivation can result in a child having less energy for education a lower ability to use creative and imaginative ways of problem solving a poorer self image being less able to cope with the stresses and strains of life and sometimes being more likely to look for kicks in anti social ways This book encourages a greater understanding of play from the child's perspective and suggests ways in which adults can support and enhance play It covers Playwork principles and practice Play theory The child Playwork values and practice Playwork and society Playwork education training and continuing professional development Quality and management of playwork It is written for those who are instinctively or otherwise looking to promote and celebrate the need for play in all of their work with children and who see their role as supportive rather than supervisory Further it is for those who recognize that the rewards of working with children come as a privilege Reflective Playwork is for the playworker and for all others who work with children such as childcare practitioners
