Teaching and Learning Secondary School Mathematics Ann Kajander, Jennifer Holm, Egan J Chernoff, 2018-10-24

This volume brings together recent research and commentary in secondary school mathematics from a breadth of contemporary Canadian and International researchers and educators. It is both representative of mathematics education generally as well as unique to the particular geography and culture of Canada. The chapters address topics of broad applicability such as technology in learning mathematics, recent interest in social justice contexts in the learning of mathematics as well as Indigenous education. The voices of classroom practitioners, the group ultimately responsible for implementing this new vision of mathematics teaching and learning, are not forgotten. Each section includes a chapter written by a classroom teacher, making this volume unique in its approach. We have much to learn from one another, and this volume takes the stance that the development of a united vision supported by both research and professional dialog provides the first step.

The Age of STEM Brigid Freeman, Simon Marginson, Russell Tytler, 2014-10-24. Across the world, STEM learning and work in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics has taken central importance in education and the economy in a way that few other disciplines have. STEM competence has become seen as key to higher productivity, technological adaptation, and research-based innovation. No area of educational provision has a greater current importance than the STEM disciplines, yet there is a surprising dearth of comprehensive and world-wide information about STEM policy, participation programs, and practice. The Age of STEM is a state-of-the-art survey of the global trends and major country initiatives in STEM. It gives an international overview of issues such as STEM strategy and coordination, curricula, teaching and assessment, women in STEM, indigenous students, research training, STEM in the graduate labour markets, STEM breadth and STEM depth. The individual chapters give comparative international analysis as well as a global overview, particularly focusing on the growing number of policies and practices in mobilising and developing talent in the STEM fields. The book will be of particular interest to anyone involved in educational policy, those in education management and leaders in both schooling and tertiary education. It will have a wider resonance among practitioners in the STEM disciplines, particularly at university level, and for those interested in contemporary public policy.
