Practice and Theory for Materials Development in L2 Learning Alan Maley, Hitomi Masuhara, Freda Mishan, 2017-03-07

This volume represents a unique addition to the growing body of empirical literature on materials development adopting a reverse approach to the topic. Rather than applying theory to practice, practitioners and researchers from 11 countries reappraise applied linguistics theories through practice. The book also provides evidence for the diversity of materials development around the globe at different levels for different specialities and for different purposes. Each chapter surveys the relevant literature such as task based learning and language and culture, describes a specific research project, reports the results of the project and discusses the implications of these results for the development of materials both in the local context and in general. After each section there are editorial comments highlighting the issues emerging from the research and there is a conclusion which connects the findings of the various chapters and makes suggestions both for future research and for the principled development of materials for L2 learners. The book will be suitable for teachers, materials developers, academics and students in post graduate courses in applied linguistics in TEFL, TESOL and in the teaching of other languages as an L2. American Happy Street 1: Teacher's Book Stella Maidment, Lorena Roberts, Bill Bowler, Sue

Focusing mainly on the situation in Central and South-eastern Europe, this book addresses how cultural identities develop through tourism, education, literature and other social fields and how language and literature teaching should be planned in this context.
