Read the text and answer questions 1 and 2 :

Shamima's misery started the day she was married. Her husband was a greedy person and he used to abuse her verbally and physically. Within a few months into her marriage she had to leave her husband Kamal Uddin Joardar. Now Shamima vows to work with women, who are ill-fated like her. She has 43 female members in her organisation working for her. She herself trains the members and then provides them with work. She designs fabrics, makes block-print, brush-paint and hand-embroidered saris. She also makes three-piece dresses for women, and 'fatuas' for men. She sells these products in her shop and supplies them outside.

Sammima has a dream now, a dream to do something for the helpless people. She wants them to feel useful. They can live with self-respect and dignity. With this in view, she goes out looking for such people. Shamima finished her story with a smile. Shamima has no complaints, no regrets, no grudges. Her husband could destroy her outward beauty but not the beauty of her mind. All she wants to do is to bring a smile on the faces of those women who are unfortunate. Shamima wants to become a famous designer.

Paul Daly,2019-04-08 For centuries courts across the common law world have developed systems of law by building bodies of judicial decisions In deciding individual cases common law courts settle litigation and move the law in new directions By virtue of their place at the top of the judicial hierarchy courts at the apex of common law systems are unique in that their decisions and in particular the language used in those decisions resonate through the legal system Although both the common law and apex courts have been studied extensively scholars have paid less attention to the relationship between the two By analyzing apex courts and the common law from multiple angles this book offers an entry point for scholars in disciplines related to law such as political science history and sociology who are seeking a deeper understanding and new insights as to how the common law applies to and is relevant within their own disciplines Murphy on Evidence Peter Murphy,Richard Glover,2017 Murphy on Evidence frames the law in its practical context Suitable for both undergraduates and BPTC students the text is supported by a wealth of online resources based around two fictional cases bringing the law to life and developing a clear contextual understanding of the subject The Common Law Jurisprudence of the Conflict of Laws Sarah McKibbin,Anthony Kennedy,2023-05-04 This book presents a collection of leading common law cases in private international law ranging from the 18th to the 21st century The cases traverse issues of jurisdiction choice of law and the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments Questions of marital validity domicile foreign immovable property and choice of law in contract are just some of the topics that this collection examines The unusual factual situations of some 18th and 19th century English cases also reveal compelling human interest stories and political controversies worthy of further exploration Drawing on a diverse team of contributors this edited collection showcases the research of eminent conflicts scholars together with emerging scholars from the United Kingdom Australia Canada Ireland and South Africa Making One's Way in the World Martin Bell,2020-02-28 The book draws on the evidence of landscape archaeology palaeoenvironmental studies ethnohistory and animal tracking to address the neglected topic of how we identify and interpret past patterns of movement in the landscape It challenges the pessimism of previous generations which regarded prehistoric routes such as hollow ways as generally undatable The premise is that archaeologists tend to focus on sites while neglecting the patterns of habitual movement that made them part of living landscapes Evidence of past movement is considered in a multi scalar way from the individual footprint to the long distance path including the traces created in vegetation by animal and human movement It is argued that routes may be perpetuated over long timescales creating landscape structures which influence the activities of subsequent generations In other instances radical changes of axes of communication and landscape structures provide evidence of upheaval and social change Palaeoenvironmental and ethnohistorical evidence from the American North West coast sets the scene with evidence for the effects of burning animal movement faeces deposition and transplantation which can create readable routes along which are favoured resources Evidence from European hunter gatherer sites hints at similar practices of niche construction on a range of spatial scales On a local scale footprints help to establish axes of movement the locations of lost settlements and activity areas Wood trackways likewise provide evidence of favoured patterns of movement and past settlement location Among early farming communities alignments of burial mounds enclosure entrances and other monuments indicate axes of communication From the middle Bronze Age in Europe there is more clearly defined evidence of trackways flanked by ditches and fields Landscape scale survey and excavation enables the dating of trackways using spatial relationships with dated features and many examples indicate long term continuity of routeways Where fields flank routeways a range of methods including scientific approaches provide dates Prehistorians have often assumed that Ridgeways provided the main axes of early movement but there is little evidence for their early origins and rather better evidence for early routes crossing topography and providing connections between different environmental zones The book concludes with a case study of the Weald of South East England which demonstrates that some axes of cross topographic movement used as droveways and generally considered as early medieval can be shown to be of prehistoric origin One reason that dryland routes have proved difficult to recognise is that insufficient attention has been paid to the parts played by riverine and maritime longer distance communication It is argued that understanding the origins of the paths we use today contributes to appreciation of the distinctive qualities of landscapes Appreciation will help to bring about effective strategies for conservation of mutual benefit to people and wildlife by maintaining and enhancing corridors of connectivity between different landscape zones including fragmented nature reserves and valued places In these ways an understanding of past routeways can contribute to sustainable landscapes communities and quality of life
