Landscapes of the Norman Conquest Trevor Rowley, 2022-11-04 For a long time the Norman Conquest has been viewed as a turning point in English history an event which transformed English identity sovereignty kingship and culture. The years between 1066 and 1086 saw the largest transfer of property ever seen in English History comparable in scale if not greater than the revolutions in France in 1789 and Russia in 1917. This transfer and the means to achieve it had a profound effect upon the English and Welsh landscape an impact that is clearly visible almost 1 000 years afterwards. Although there have been numerous books examining different aspects of the British landscape this is the first to look specifically at the way in which the Normans shaped our towns and countryside. The castles abbeys churches and cathedrals built in the new Norman Romanesque style after 1066 represent the most obvious legacy of what was effectively a colonial take over of England. Such phenomena furnished a broader landscape that was fashioned to intimidate and demonstrate the Norman dominance of towns and villages. The devastation that followed the Conquest characterised by the Harrying of the North had a long term impact in the form of new planned settlements and agriculture. The imposition of Forest Laws restricting hunting to the Norman king and the establishment of a military landscape in areas such as the Welsh Marches had a similar impact on the countryside.

Coastal Shrines and Transnational Maritime Networks across India and Southeast Asia Himanshu Prabha Ray, 2020-07-26 This book breaks new ground by examining trans oceanic connectivity through the perspective of coastal shrines and maritime cultural landscapes across the Bay of Bengal and the South China Sea. It covers a period of expanding networks and cross cultural encounters from the 3rd century BCE to the 13th century CE. The book examines the distinctiveness of these shrines and highlights their interconnections and their role in social integration in South and Southeast Asia. By drawing on data from shipwreck sites the author elaborates on the material and religious intersections and transmissions between cultures across the seas. Many of these coastal shrines survived into the colonial period when they came to be admired for their aesthetic value as monuments. As nation states of the region became independent these shrines were often inscribed on UNESCO's World Heritage List on account of their Outstanding Universal Values. The book argues that in the 21st century there is a need to promote the cultural connectivity of the past as transnational heritage on UNESCO's global platform to preserve and protect our shared heritage. The volume will be essential reading for academics and researchers of archaeology anthropology museum and heritage studies history of South and Southeast Asia religious studies cultural studies and Asian studies.
