CHAPTER 10

- 10-1. Internationalization strategies: How can professional services be a viable internationalization strategy for a firm?
- Professional services firms are engaged in a variety of internationalization strategies:
- “Traditional” internationalization involves the attempt to enter new markets in those where the firm has established some selling/operating presence in Europe or North America by establishing subsidiaries.
 - More recent internationalization strategies involve internationalization through acquisition, joint ventures, and other foreign market entry strategies.
 - Other internationalization strategies involve the firm as a licensed provider of its services to the target market through contractual arrangements for about 10% of the firm’s total sales/operating revenue to enter into a contractual relationship whereby the international provider provides services to the foreign client under contract. Internationalization through contractual arrangements involves the firm and several of its subsidiaries providing services jointly to the client.
- 10-2. Internationalization strategies: How can internationalization strategies be categorized into global market strategies and local market strategies? The latter?
- Local market strategies involve the firm as a provider of services to the target market through contractual arrangements for about 10% of the firm’s total sales/operating revenue to enter into a contractual relationship whereby the international provider provides services to the foreign client under contract.
- 10-3. Internationalization strategies: How can internationalization strategies be categorized into global market strategies and local market strategies? The latter?
- Local market strategies involve the firm as a provider of services to the target market through contractual arrangements for about 10% of the firm’s total sales/operating revenue to enter into a contractual relationship whereby the international provider provides services to the foreign client under contract.
- 10-4. Internationalization strategies: How can internationalization strategies be categorized into global market strategies and local market strategies? The latter?
- Local market strategies involve the firm as a provider of services to the target market through contractual arrangements for about 10% of the firm’s total sales/operating revenue to enter into a contractual relationship whereby the international provider provides services to the foreign client under contract.
- 10-5. Internationalization strategies: How can internationalization strategies be categorized into global market strategies and local market strategies? The latter?
