Each chapter presents a detailed scholarly discussion on a topic and represents the most up to date reference for that topic. The Chapters also provide key references for further detailed readings and guides. The chapters are authored by leading researchers from all around the world. This book discusses both emerging and traditional research methods commonly utilised within applied psychology research projects and directly assists early researchers in providing an informed discussion of their decisions relating to their choice of, for example, research sampling, the use of diary studies, appropriate survey time lags, conducting systematic reviews, and the macro and micro process issues involved with conducting organisational interventions. This book is an important reference text for applied psychology research thesis project students and researchers including both undergraduate and postgraduate students. It will be of interest to applied psychology researchers in all fields: clinical, organisational, developmental, forensic, etc. and to those in other disciplines.
