

9 tips for writing a school policy

School policies and procedures demonstrate your commitment with statutory requirements. Use Clifton's tips to guide you in creating and revising a policy.

1. Consult your board

Develop a policy that meets the needs of all stakeholders, including staff, students, parents, and the community. Consult with your board of directors for input and guidance on the policy.

2. Keep it simple and concise

Write your policy in plain language that is easy to understand. Avoid using complex language or jargon. Keep the policy as short as possible while still covering all the necessary information.

3. Be specific and clear

Use clear, specific language to describe the policy. Avoid using vague or ambiguous terms. Be sure to define any key terms or concepts. Use examples to illustrate the policy where appropriate.

4. Review often

Review the policy regularly to ensure it remains relevant and effective. Update the policy as needed to reflect changes in the school or community. Consider revising the policy every three to five years.

5. Get input from stakeholders

Get input from all stakeholders, including staff, students, parents, and the community. Use surveys, focus groups, and other methods to gather feedback. Consider holding public hearings or town hall meetings to hear from the community.

Be consistent with your school's vision, mission, and values. The policy should reflect the school's commitment to providing a high-quality education for all students. Consider how the policy aligns with the school's strategic plan and other documents.

6. Share the policy widely

Share the policy with all stakeholders, including staff, students, parents, and the community. Use multiple channels to reach everyone, including email, social media, and printed copies. Consider holding a meeting to discuss the policy and answer questions.

7. Monitor and evaluate the policy

Monitor the policy's implementation and effectiveness. Use data and feedback to assess whether the policy is achieving its intended purpose. Consider conducting a formal evaluation of the policy at a regular interval.

8. Communicate the policy

Communicate the policy to all stakeholders in a clear and concise manner. Use multiple channels to reach everyone, including email, social media, and printed copies. Consider holding a meeting to discuss the policy and answer questions.
