Agricultural Reform in Rwanda Chris Huggins, 2017-10-15 International observers have lauded Rwanda as an example of an African country taking control of its own development trajectory and as a market friendly destination for investment. A key component of this narrative has been an ambitious programme of agricultural reform involving private firms, NGOs and international charities. The Rwandan government claims these reforms have been a resounding success, tripling crop yields and helping to combat hunger. Chris Huggins argues, however, that Rwanda's liberal modernising image sits poorly with the regime's continuing authoritarian tendencies. Featuring in depth case studies of the effects of agricultural reform in three different regions and drawing on hundreds of interviews, Huggins shows that the much vaunted liberalization of agriculture has in fact depended on the coercion of Rwandan farmers and in many cases has had a detrimental impact on their livelihoods. With the Kagame regime now coming under increasing international scrutiny, this work provides a timely look at the impact of market friendly authoritarianism in contemporary Africa, making essential reading for students and scholars of development in the fields of sociology, anthropology, political science and economics. Inequality and Political Cleavage in Africa

Catherine Boone, 2024-04-25 Extensive data maps and case histories show how competition between rich and poor regions drives African politics, not ethnic diversity. A History of Water: Series III, Volume 3 Terje Tvedt, Terje Oestigaard, 2016-08-31 Major changes in policy and management across the entire agricultural production chain will be needed to ensure the best use of available water resources in meeting growing demands for food and other agricultural products. This new volume in the successful History of Water Series focuses on the African continent to address this key issue. Humanity has its roots in Africa and many of our food systems developed there. All types of agricultural production are present and the sheer size of the continent offers wide ecological variation from extreme desert to dense rainforest. Drawing together leading international contributors from a wide variety of disciplines, Water and Food offers new insights into the evolution of food systems from early hunter gatherers to the global challenges of the modern world. Climate Change 2022 - Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC), 2023-06-22 The Working Group II contribution to the Sixth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change. IPCC provides a comprehensive assessment of the scientific literature relevant to climate change impacts, adaptation and vulnerability. The report recognizes the interactions of climate, ecosystems and biodiversity and human societies and integrates across the natural, ecological, social and economic sciences. It emphasizes how efforts in adaptation and in reducing greenhouse gas emissions can come together in a process called climate resilient development which enables a liveable future for biodiversity and humankind. The IPCC is the leading body for assessing climate change science. IPCC reports are produced in comprehensive, objective and transparent ways, ensuring they reflect the full range of views in the scientific literature. Novel
