The book deals with urban transportation planning in light of environmental sustainability and social equity. It begins with a review of the Indian urban transportation system and the issues surrounding it and discusses the alternatives and policy directions that are being considered. It examines all the environmental issues arising out of transportation as a sector and assesses the alternatives that can be considered to improve sustainability. Further, the book not only analyses transportation modes that cater to the travel needs of the poor so as to make them more socially equitable but also explores measures to promote them using a multi-criteria and multi-stakeholder approach. It addresses the barriers that are bottlenecks for the implementation of cleaner fuels and modes of transport and presents an incremental approach to tackle environmental concerns including climate change when planning transportation in the long term. Finally, it presents the dilemma of city administrators in choosing between strategies aimed at local pollution control and those aimed at limiting global emissions. This unique book provides a comprehensive overview of sustainable transportation. It discusses all the important elements that are essential to transportation planners and policy makers when planning a city's transportation. Theoretical presentations augmented by case-specific research work and the methodology used in some of the modules make it a valuable resource for researchers working at the forefront of this area. North American Auto Unions in Crisis William C. Green, Ernest J. Yanarella, 1996-01-01. This edited volume provides the first comparative cross-national study of U.S. and Canadian labor relations in Japanese North American auto transplants, Japanese joint ventures with the Big Three automakers and Saturn, the Japanese style GM auto plant. Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Sustainability Marcus Wagner, 2017-09-08. This book addresses the intersection of entrepreneurship, innovation and sustainability (EIS), presenting high quality research illuminating the relationship between the three fields. The EIS nexus is particularly relevant from a European point of view given the focus of the European Commission on corporate social responsibility (CSR) and sustainability as well as their prominent role within the European Union in general. Also, the rapid economic growth witnessed especially in the BRIC countries in recent years requires that firms reconcile sustainability aspects with profitability and innovation and entrepreneurs are seen as key diffusers of these aims. Sustainability requires both radical and incremental innovation at many different levels: technology, product, process, system. In many cases, such innovations come from small and medium-sized enterprises and so the role of the entrepreneur is key to their success. The book is split into six sections. The first section examines the nexus in detail, focusing on system-oriented connectivity between sustainability, innovation, and entrepreneurship. The second section looks at how to nurture corporate entrepreneurship for sustainability, and the third considers mature industries such as automotives, chemicals, and electronics, and how sustainability aspects can be integrated into innovation process and strategy. The fourth section examines the nexus through the lens of developing countries in Africa. Sustainable entrepreneurship is identified as a hugely beneficial way to foster development. The fifth section of the book concentrates on SMEs, and finally the EIS nexus is approached from a network perspective and focuses on inter-organisational partnerships, which are often an important facilitator or spark for EIS initiatives. This book will prove to be essential for researchers in the EIS nexus and be of invaluable help to practitioners, governments, and inter-governmental bodies attempting to encourage sustainable entrepreneurship and innovation.
